FLOOD DEATH TOLL REACHES 145

Metcalf Fires Back at Davey In Probe Clash

Investigation Indicts Governor, Senator Says, After Davey Demands Committee Name Names of Guilty Persons; Recalls Findings Inquiry Developed.

COLUMBUS—Challenging the sincerity of Governor Davey's statement that he would dismiss any liquor department official if proof of wrong doing was submitted, Sen. Verner E. Metcalf (R., Washington) today asked why the governor has failed to take action on disclosures thus far.

The governor's position was explained in a denunciatory letter to the now defunct senate graft investigating committee in which he demanded proof of charges in its preliminary report that the liquor department is "shot through with forgery, corruption, graft, false reports, pretended 'buys' and maladministration."

The governor conceded that the state had been overcharged by the Shaw Transport company, given the contract for hauling state liquor. He likewise admitted that Maher and North, Cleveland dealers, took an unwarranted profit as middlemen on coal purchases.

On the other hand, he contended that the committee report "did not produce proof of a small fraction of the evidence to sustain charges against the liquor department. He upheld the liquor enforcement staff and denied that Liquor Director James W. Miller and Highway Director John Jaster are not permitted to retain full control of their departments.

Metcalf Answers. Sen. Metcalf responded with the statement that the committee "will hold Davey to the record."

"He refused to fire a forger who had padded his expense account," Metcalf said. "The forger was suspended, but then placed back upon the payroll. He can't be allowed after that to say he will clean house."

"He admits there is something wrong about the Shaw Transport, Inc., trucking contract. He is the governor. And instead of demanding a bill of particulars, why does he not bring action to dissolve the Shaw company and regain the money which the state has lost?"

"Probe Indicts Governor." "The investigation indicts the governor and he cannot evade it by hurling abusive and slanderous remarks at the committee or its counsel."

The governor demanded that the committee "name" the persons "with whom" he charged with guilt. "If you fail to prosecute, I propose to pound you until you do submit a bill of particulars," he said.

It was understood after legislative adjournment that it would be sometime before a final committee report was filed with the clerk of the senate.

Niagara Soldiers Turned Out By $150,000 Fire.

PORT NIAGARA, N. Y.—(AP)—Five hundred soldiers—the entire personnel of Uncle Sam's historic Fort Niagara—turned out in zero weather today to fight a $150,000 fire which destroyed one barrack and threatened other buildings at this army outpost.

The fire started about dawn, driving 200 partly dressed soldiers out into the cold. A huge cloud of smoke and steam rose above the bluff, overlooking Lake Ontario and Canada, on which the fort is situated.

Volunteer fire companies from the nearby villages of Lewiston and Tonawanda arrived, supplemented by a pump company from Niagara Falls. 10 miles away, aided the soldiers in bringing the fire, which started in the recreation quarters, under control.

Hope Abandoned for Nine on Lost Plane

FLEET OF 60 SHIPS JOINS IN HUNT TODAY

300 From CCC Camps Aid Searchers Seeking Airliner Carrying Mansfielders.

BELIEVE ALL ABOARD DEAD

Flood Waters Hamper Search; Scar on Mountain Fails to Reveal Trace of Plane.

Hope was virtually abandoned today that the nine persons aboard the Transcontinental and Western Air liner, including two Mansfielders, were still alive. The search is being continued however in the mountain regions of California in hopes that the wrecked plane can be located.

The belief that all aboard the plane were dead was expressed by Jack Frye, TWA president and by searchers in the district in which the plane is believed to have crashed Tuesday night.

Believed Ship Crashed. Rufus Tracy, sr., grandfather of J. Tracy Dirlam and Mary Lou Dirlam, Mansfielders on the lost plane, was informed in a long distance telephone call last night by his son, Rufus, Jr., who went to Fresno, Calif., immediately after the airliner disappeared that it was generally believed the six passengers and three crew members of the plane had been killed when the big ship crashed in the mountains of south central California.

The younger Tracy, whose home is in Salt Lake City, said that the searchers, both on foot and in planes, are being greatly hampered in their search for the missing ship by the floods which are sweeping over California.

Bombers Scan Mountains. A fleet of 60 planes and 400 ground searchers—300 of them from CCC camps—joined the search today for the wrecked plane. Fire army bombing planes were scanning the mountain peaks and passes today, and if no trace of the ship is found before tonight, 35 navy planes will be sent to the vicinity tomorrow to comb the terrain, according to United Press.

Persistent Japanese encroachment in the zone guarded by the marines, despite an agreement to curtail patrols, has resulted in increasing friction.

Marine headquarters declined to comment on the incident, but it was presumed a protest was being made to Japanese authorities.

Noted Columnist Joins News-Journal 'Family'

Articles by Pegler Will Appear on Editorial Page Daily.

Starting Monday, Westbrook Pegler, nationally famous columnist and commentator, will become a member of The News-Journal writing family.

His column, "Fair Enough," will become a daily feature of the editorial page, occupying the space that has been filled by the late O. O. McIntyre for the past eight years. The final McIntyre column will appear in Saturday's News-Journal.

Pegler's column is intended to go way to replace McIntyre. Perhaps no columnist in America could do that. Pegler writes in an entirely different style; he is a commentator on the day's news and he does it in his own particular way. His subjects may be anything from politics to panhandling, from wind and w demonstration to dancing, from bribery to banana splits.

Unhindered By Tradition. Pegler, who has been called a "Peril to Placidity" and a "Kicker-Up of Reader Dust" writes from facts of which he is sure. He is unawed by office or authority, unhampered by orthodoxy or tradition. He trusts completely his own eyes and follows the dictates of his own opinions.

He is an independent thinker and writer, unimpressed by the policies and alignments of the papers for which he writes. His column may express opinions exactly opposite from that expressed in editorials on the same page.

His style is modern and many of his expressions have become accepted as parts of American speech. Last year he was awarded the annual prize of The Headliners club for having contributed the most outstanding work of general public interest by any American columnist. The award was given for his series of articles on income tax invasion.

He has a tremendous following and he is heckled by readers almost as much as he is praised—but he still follows his own convictions. Irritated readers, stung by his sarcasm, write the most scathing letters about him and to him. But they have yet to detour Pegler from "speaking his piece."

Mother Offers to Give Eye So Infant Son May See

Doctor Says Sacrifice Won't Be Necessary, Plans to Use Orb of Still-born Baby.

LANSDALE, Pa.—Curly-haired Roger Laverty received an unusual birthday gift today on his second anniversary—an offer from his mother to give an eye that he might see.

Mrs. William Laverty, wife of a textile worker, going about her household, recalled that "once his eyes were deep blue."

Now the chubby boy's right eye is sightless and the left is affected. The boy, whose hair is as blond as his attractive mother's, was normal until an attack of measles last April. A year ago, the mother said, he won a health contest in competition with 1,200 children at Providence, R. I., where the Lavertys formerly lived.

Any Sacrifice. A surgeon has said transfer of part of a cornea from another person might restore sight in the boy's right eye and check the loss of vision in his left. The operation is tentatively scheduled at the Presbyterian Medical Center in New York March 28.

"My husband and I are willing to make any sacrifice," Mrs. Laverty said.

"After all," the mother said, "he has his whole life before him—and I have lived 30 good years."

The surgeon who plans to make the operation, however, says it will not be necessary to accept Mrs. Laverty's offer.

Tissue from the eye of a still-born baby or a person who has just died would serve just as well, it was explained.

Comparison of Old and New Type Will Be Interesting.

Have you heard about The News-Journal's new "face," which will be displayed proudly for your benefit and convenience on Monday?

You'll want to know all about it because people are bound to be talking about it—ANY face that costs thousands of dollars is certain to cause talk!

Monday's issue of The News-Journal will be printed entirely in new type, an Intertype Regal which has a cameo-like clarity. Only the old timers will recall those old newspapers of a quarter of a century or more ago, in which type had a blurred, smeary look, but it would be interesting to make a comparison between them and the new type which will be used in this paper in the future.

Modern means of gathering news has given readers infinitely more news to read, while the stress of present day life gives less time in which to read it.

In choosing a new type for The News-Journal it was necessary to consider a number of factors. First, there was the necessity for legibility and easy reading. This feature of Regal has been studied and tested in innumerable ways, and after many comparisons, such publications as the Chicago Tribune

BLAMES STATE FOR COUNTY'S RELIEF MIX-UP

Auditor Says Involved System Of Distributing Finances Causes Uncertainty.

HALTS DEFINITE PROGRAM

Certifies Money for Matching And Then Uses Same Funds To Pay Bills.

While Richland county officials admitted today that the relief set-up here may be "a mix-up" as described yesterday by C. M. Dawson, state relief investigator, they pointed out that the state's method of providing finances is partly responsible for the situation.

The involved system of distributing relief funds under the matching program, which County Auditor Norman L. Wolfe said even an expert accountant could not figure out, was blamed for the uncertainty in planning a definite county program.

Use Same Funds Twice. "We understood that the county and its sub-divisions would have to match with cash each month the allocations from the state," Wolfe said, "but we learned later that we can certify relief funds for matching and then the same funds for paying bills here."

The involved arrangement, provided under a relief bill passed by the legislature in January, permitted the county to divert unused relief funds to the direct relief fund and put up $33,000 for matching state allocations during the year.

The county prepared today to certify the final half year's amount—$16,587—to the state auditor for matching the last half of the year.

Ready to Pay Old Bills. The money will be used early next week to pay most of the January relief bills, Wolfe said. Most of the $16,000 fund came from the state in the January-February distribution under the matching plan, and the rest is an "overage" from a $23,000 allocation received this week for retiring old relief bonds.

After the county pays its January bills, which first must be approved by the state auditor, it can begin worrying about the February accounts which set a high rate of nearly $25,000. And after that the March bills will be payable, and they are expected to be as much as last month's expenses.

MERCURY SKIDS, CLIMBS SLOWLY

Tomorrow to Bring Rain, Snow and Warmer Weather.

Only slight relief was in sight today from the cold wave that rode in on the tail of blustery north west winds last night and sent the mercury tumbling to 8 degrees above zero.

Cloudy skies which accompanied the cold wave were to bring rain turning to snow tonight and Saturday, forecasters said.

The temperature at noon today had risen to 22.4 degrees above the average of 13.5 recorded here in the past 13 years. The highest recorded in the last 24 hours was 23 degrees above, yesterday afternoon.

LOSS PUT AT 80 MILLION

'Shoot to Kill' Order Given By Authorities to Halt Stripping of Homes.

BULLETIN LOS ANGELES—(AP)—Seventy-four bodies were recovered from southern California's flood disaster up to 12:30 p. m. (EST), today and 53 had been identified.

(By International News Service) LOS ANGELES—Over the deluge a bright sun rose today, to warm and dry stricken southern California, as 200 miles of famous and wealthy coastline cities and countryside counted a terrific human and property storm toll and fought a new menace of looters.

As five days of torrential rains ended, various surveys revealed estimates that 145 persons are dead or missing; 47 are known to be dead; 3,000 families are homeless and $80,000,000 damage has been done.

Looters were met at once by peace authorities armed with rifles and sawed-off shotguns with instructions to shoot to kill.

Destruction to municipal property in Los Angeles alone will amount to $3,028,000, according to City Engineer Lloyd Aldrich. Private property losses and damage in other storm-struck communities will mount into millions more.

Reports that looting broke out in sections populated principally by film stars caused authorities to issue "shoot to kill" orders to halt thefts.

In Santa Monica canyon deputies seized two men stripping cars washed down the Big Tujunga river. The valley was strewn with abandoned machines.

In North Hollywood, home of a number of picture stars, officers routed three men who were stripping a sumptuous home.

HOW'S YOUR STOMACH?

If you are troubled with gassy, sour, acid stomach or heartburn, you want a tonic to help improve your digestion. That's Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, which stimulates the appetite and tends to increase the flow of gastric juice and thus aid in digesting food.

Read in interesting digestion. Mrs. Frank Reed, 1875 E. 3rd St., Cleveland, Ohio, says: "I give you an appetite and I am in improving the digestion. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery has been of value to me. It is so good to have a tonic and get the food on the stomach and help to get the food on the stomach. Get it in liquid or tablet form from your druggist today."

THEATER

Appear In Film, Stage Features

YES, "Snow White and The Seven Dwarfs" is coming to Mansfield. Which is the answer to a question that is being asked daily on the street, in schools and over the telephone. In fact, so great has been the interest in the picture in Mansfield that the Ohio theater is changing its booking this month in order to bring the Disney picture here. It will be shown here Mar. 13, a week from Sunday. It is a milestone in motion picture history for it marks the first full length cartoon feature. It is still being shown in cities in which it opened a month ago. While it is essentially a picture for childhood, strangely enough there has been just as great interest among adults. It took three years for Disney and his big staff of artists to draw the pictures, and it cost several million dollars to make—without a real human being in it. But it promises to be a good investment.

Double Feature.

It will be recalled that there was the same force about Disney's "Three Little Pigs" two years ago and its appeal was so great that movie goers all over the country awaited its showing impatiently. It was shown in Mansfield only once—and that at a second-run theater—but it is incorporated in the Walt Disney Academy Awards Revue which the Madison is now showing. There are five of Disney's best short subjects in the revue. Another Clarence Bud White episode in the "Three Little Pigs" and the life of Hopalong Cassidy is depicted in "Cassidy of Bar 20", which is presented along with the Disney colored feature. Hopalong and his sweetheart have a hair raising adventure.

Meet The Butler.

Behind the stolidity and impassivity of your friend's butler may lie the brains and executive ability to guide a nation, according to "The Baroness and The Butler", with William Powell and Annabella, which is current at the Ohio. The action proves that the butler may have—and frequently does have—a better education than his employer. The picture brings out the fact that a good butler must have the ability of an army high officer, that he does indeed act as liaison officer between his employer's household and the rest of the servants—not to mention their friends. A charming love affair, with the familiar Powell touch, makes the picture good entertainment.

Land Grabbers.

If the Western picture, "The Law Commands" may be relied upon, the forerunners of the modern gangster and racketeer were the landsharks who made their first appearance in Iowa in 1862. The action of the picture is based on the work of these early racketeers who were highly organized under unscrupulous leaders. Tom Keene, hero of many Western films, comes to the rescue of the early settlers who were victimized by the land grabbers. This picture, along with "Daredevil Drivers", a story of auto racing and a feud between two bus companies, makes up the Majestic bill for the last two days of the week.

Adventures in Budapest

Presenting an interesting cast in a series of rollicking adventures, "Fight For Your Lady", will be the major attraction at the Ritz today and Saturday. John Boles, as a concert singer, Jack Oakie as manager of a wrestler, Margot Grahame as a gold digger and Ida Lupino as the heart interest, are the figures around which the action revolves, moving from London to Paris and on to Budapest. A duel in the latter city provides more comedy than tragedy. On the same bill is a Western starring Buck Jones in another story of land grabbers, who work by forgery.

RULES LICENSES NOT DEDUCTABLE

Bureau Says Cost of Game Permits Not Exempt From Tax.

WASHINGTON—(AP)—The internal revenue bureau has ruled that Ohio sportsmen may not deduct the cost of state hunting and fishing licenses. Only those who fish, hunt or trap for a living may deduct the cost as a business expense.

The ruling was similar to those made in 1934 and 1936 on hunting licenses issued in North Dakota, New York, North Carolina, and Pennsylvania.

The Mauch twins, Billie and Bobby, who came into screen recognition when they made the film version of Mark Twain's "The Prince and The Pauper," appear again in one picture to further confuse movie goers.

When that failed, he came back to London. And out of 300 girls interviewed here he has found one who will do. But she was born in Scotland.

Smith Ballew, below, the singing cowboy, and his Beverly Hill-Billies will bring their stage show to the Madison theater for a Sunday and Monday showing. Ballew, native of Texas, is heard frequently on the radio and has been featured in Zane Grey pictures. He also appeared with Jack Oakie in the comedy "Palm Springs" several months ago. Ballew and his favorite mount, shown here, will head the band of hill-billy singers and musicians on the Madison stage.

LACK GLAMOR

British Girls Take Back Seat For Americans.

LONDON—(P)—When it comes to glamor, the American girl has her English cousin backed clear off the map. That's the conclusion of a British impresario who made a fruitless search of the provinces for 14 English beauties who would match the "high standard" of the American glamor girls he has been importing for a Mayfair night club. The labor ministry told him he would have to produce a show with English girls before he brought in any more Americans. So he began a quest for "fresh-faced" girls from the country. When that failed, he came back to London. And out of 300 girls interviewed here he has found one who will do. But she was born in Scotland.

Better Luck For Ohio Fishermen Looms This Year

COLUMBUS — (AP) — Fishermen's luck should improve greatly this year. The state conservation division announced today that 38,800,000 fish had been distributed in Ohio in 1937, nearly 40 fish for every disciple of Isaac Walton. Conservation Commissioner Lawrence Wooddell said: "Last year's distribution was the greatest in the history of the state and while the number of fish has increased, the cost of fish farm operation has not been raised."

Production of fish fry from the Put-In-Bay hatchery accounted for 33,000,000 of the total distributed last year and 264,895 were salvaged from streams unsuitable for fish life, the division reported. Fall distributions included: 5,079,310 from state fish farms, Sandusky hatcheries 49,268 and Rockwell reservoir 99,922.

WALLACE ASKS MORE FORESTS ON CITY LANDS

Valuable Properties Can Be Developed, Secretary of Agriculture Says.

WASHINGTON, (AP)—A Forest Service campaign for establishment of community forests for cities and towns was endorsed today by Secretary of Agriculture Henry A. Wallace.

F. A. Silcox, chief of the Forest Service, said many cities and towns "can make good use of the delinquent, sub-marginal and other cheap lands to develop valuable forest properties."

Such forests, he said, can often more than pay for themselves. They can be used for recreation, as work reservoirs for city and some rural areas. Wallace described the idea as "another step toward rounding out the nation's forestry program."

Projects Number 1,007

Already, Silcox said, 1,097 counties and towns in 27 states have community forests covering an area of 2,889,605 acres. These forests produce fuel and timber, protect watersheds and provide recreation and wildlife refuges.

The idea is comparatively new to this country, Silcox said, but is centuries old in Europe, where a town without a forest is an exception. Many of these forests, he said, have provided income and employment for many generations.

Community forests have been increasing in New England, where several towns operate them at a cash profit, he said. Others save taxes by furnishing timber for community repairs, fuel for the schools, recreation and watershed protection.

"The practice of forestry makes the town forest a good business proposition worth investigating by every place that is near tax-deferred or sub-marginal land," Silcox said. "Approximately 41,000,000 acres of forest land were not paying taxes in 1935."

"The Forest Service stresses particularly the opportunity these forests may provide for unskilled labor in nurseries, and for planting and forest maintenance. The use of unskilled labor has yielded good returns from timber stand improvement and similar forestry practices on both public and private land."

Can Absorb Jobless

"In periods of unemployment, towns and communities with forests can put men to work and be reasonably certain of obtaining returns to cover the cost of labor."

"The migration of population, ups and downs in standards of living, and other social problems can be minimized with the aid of community forests," Silcox said. "They are work reservoirs near the homes of laborers in hard times and sources of recreation at all times."

CITY BOLSTERS EQUIPMENT FOR FIRE FIGHTING

Buys 1,000 Feet of Hose on High Bid; Contract for 2-Ton Truck Awarded.

After months of agitation for additional hose for the fire department, the city today had arranged for the purchase of 1,000 feet of hose by accepting the highest of four bids.

At the same time Service-Safety Director Tracy C. Styer announced that the contract for the purchase of a new truck to be used by the street department had been awarded to the Lincoln Highway garage on the third low bid of $1,582.23.

Both contracts were let by the board of control which consists of Mayor Claude M. Hunter and Styer.

The city accepted the $1,120 bid of the Fox Auto Parts company of Mansfield on the written recommendation from Fire Chief Charles J. Seaburger that the fabricated hose handled by this firm be purchased because of its superior quality.

The Fox bid was $86 higher than the proposal submitted by the Hughes Supply company which offered another make of hose for $1,034.

Bid on 200 Feet.

Two other bids received were on 200 feet of smaller size hose, both which were lower than the bid submitted by Fox. The Standard Sanitary Manufacturing company entered a bid of $154 on 200 feet of 1 1/2 inch hose while the W. S. Darley company of Chicago submitted a bid of $116.

The contract with the Fox company calls for the delivery to the city of 800 feet of 2 1/2 inch hose at $1.20 per foot and 200 feet of 1 1/2 inch hose at 80 cents per foot. The Lincoln Highway garage, third lowest of eight bidders, was awarded the contract for delivery to the city of a two-ton Indiana truck to be used by the street department.

The successful bidder quoted a price of $1,538.23, and allowed $175 on a used truck turned in by the city. The Lincoln Highway bid was accepted over a proposal submitted by Colby and Easick, on a Dodge truck at $1,583.80, with a $215 allowance. Other bids were: H. W. Wentz, $1,538 with $185 allowance; Swisher and Shafer Auto company, $1,590 with $160 allowance; G. L. Rogers bid $1,400 with an allowance of $205; Weidner Motor sales, $1,599.92, allowance $199.92; Autter Motor company, $1,527, allowance of $150; and G. F. Schonauer, $1,600, with $200 allowance.

COWBOYS PAID $40
DALLAS, Tex.—(AP)—The cowboy of the western plains earns an average salary of $40 a month. Oliver M. Lee, pioneer cattleman of Alamogordo, N. M., revealed this in a freight rate hearing before the I. C. C. in El Paso. In addition, a cowboy's food and bed costs the rancher another $20 a month.

ABANDON HOPE FOR 9 ON PLANE

Searchers Believe All Dead; Fleet of 60 Ships Joins In Hunt Today.

that the two young college students, who were hurrying home because of their father's serious illness, would be found alive.

Jay Dirlam, father of the missing boy and girl, was reported to have had a "fairly good" day yesterday and was "holding his own." The oxygen tent, reported to Wednesday to strengthen his heart, was not needed yesterday nor last night, members of the family said. News of what now appears to be a tragedy has been kept from him for fear the shock might prove fatal.

Airplanes yesterday afternoon scanned the sea high on the mountainside, which appeared from a distance to have been left by some heavy object scraping over it, and on which many of the searchers pinned their hopes. But the closest scrutiny failed to show any trace of the plane. Associated Press dispatches said.

Frye, head of TWA, told an International News Service man today that all hope of finding those on the ship alive had been abandoned.

"I am convinced," he said, "that the missing plane came down in the vicinity of Castle peak or Huntington lake, and I am afraid that those in the plane are dead."

Castle peak is about nine miles west of Huntington lake and about 35 miles east of Fresno. It was in the lake region that a crew of construction workers, repairing a road Tuesday night, said they heard the motors of the plane about 12:40 a. m. (EST) and then heard a distinct but far away crash.

The big luxury liner, bound for Los Angeles and the main line east, left San Francisco airport at 9:30 p. m. (EST) Tuesday, and became lost in a wind and rain storm and cloud banks, and turned back. Somewhere on the backswing it met disaster, it is believed.

Tracy and Mary Lou Dirlam were students at Leland Stanford university at Palo Alto.

Search will be continued, according to TWA officials, until some trace of the plane is found.

Ann Hewitt Gay Parts With Husband of Only Four Months.

SAN FRANCISCO—(P)—Blaming "differences in rearing" for their inability to get along together, Heiress Ann Cooper Hewitt-Gay today sought a divorce from her husband of four months.

Ronald M. Gay, a garage man, charged Gay had caused her "grievous mental suffering." They were married Oct. 8 and separated in February. DESCRIBES PLOT TO KILL STALIN, SEIZE KREMLIN

Defendant in Moscow Blood Purge Trial Names Marshall Tukhachevsky as Leader.

BULLETIN
MOSCOW—(AP)—A plot to seize the Kremlin and kill Joseph Stalin and other Soviet leaders in May, 1937, with Marshal Mikhail N. Tukhachevsky as leader, was described today by one of the 21 defendants in Moscow's greatest blood purge trial.

(By Associated Press)
MOSCOW—Unsuccessful attempts to invade British and to separate middle Asia from the Soviet union through armed revolt were described today in the confession of Fayzulla Khodjaev, one of 21 defendants in Russia's newest blood purge trial.

Khodjaev, confessed leader of a separatist movement, once was president of the Uzbek Soviet Republic in Central Asia and is a nephew of the last Emir of Bokhara.

He testified that Uzbek nationalists trained leaders for insurrection by sending young boys to Germany and Turkey to be educated.

Confesses Conspiracy.
His testimony followed confessions of intrigue with the Polish general staff and a plot to assassinate the Soviet union's war commissar, all broadening the pattern of the admitted conspiracies "or the 21 accused as traitors, murderers and spies against the U. S. S. R. Khodjaev indicated that Nikolai Bukharin, number one on the list of defendants, knew in advance of the anti-Comintern pact to which Germany, Italy and Japan now subscribe.

He said Bukharin told him Fascism had helped stabilize capitalism, that the Nazis would try to make Germany supreme in a future Europe and were preparing a pact with Japan against the U. S. S. R.

Today's first witness, V. F. Sharangovich, former secretary of the Polish Communist party, told the court of contacts between the Polish army general staff and a "National Fascist" group across the Polish border in White Russia.

Sharangovich implicated as leaders of the organization a group which included: A. V. Cherviakoff, White Russia president who committed suicide when a number of his colleagues were arrested; Golodet, White Russia chairman of People's Commissars, and Nicolai Anupoff, former vice-president of the Council of Peoples' Commissars.

The group conferred frequently with Nikolai Bukharin, former government newspaper editor also on trial, and Gregory I. Platikoff, who was executed after the January, 1937 trials. Sharangovich declared.

Sharangovich told of attempts of two terrorist groups to assassinate Klement E. Voroshiloff, commissar of war, during army maneuvers in White Russia.

The new witnesses, all defendants, added vivid details to previous confessions that the group had planned to murder Communist leaders and overthrow the Soviet union with the aid of foreign armies.

It is time that we stop drifting and call a halt to the ever increasing taxes that are being heaped on our shoulders," he said as he pointed out that where 30 million dollars in taxes was paid in 1920, more than 350 millions was collected from the same source during 1937.

He suggested that the taxpayers petition their representatives and senators either personally or in writing against any further abuse from over taxation.

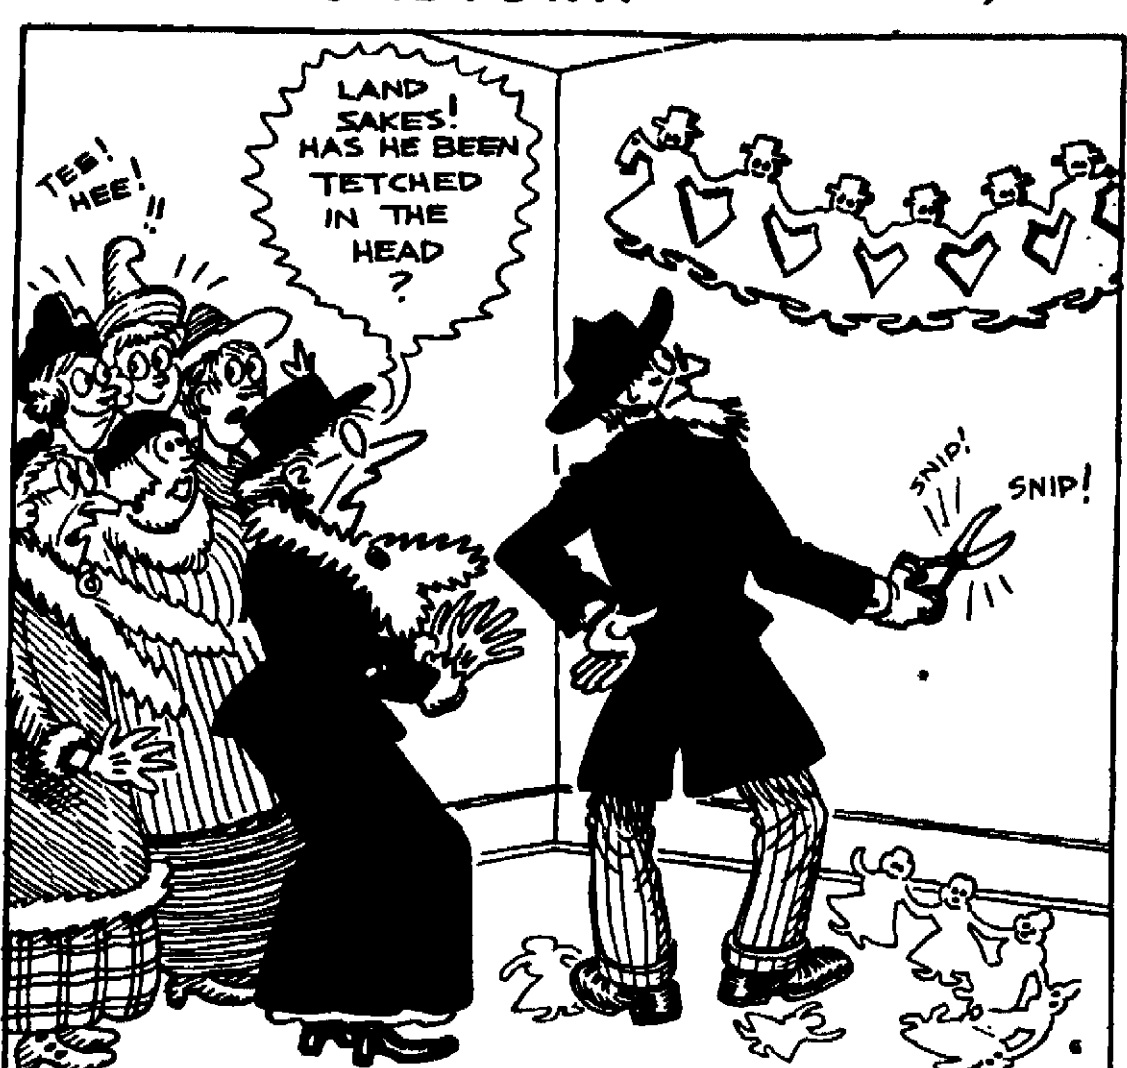

James E. Bailey presided as chairman at the meeting which was attended by nearly 40 farmers who were guests.

REVEALS F.D.R. AS INSISTING ON NAVAL PROTECTION ABROAD

WASHINGTON—(AP)—President Roosevelt personally recommended that the pending billion-dollar naval bill declare it the policy of the United States "to protect our commerce and citizens abroad." It was learned today.

Chairman Carl Vinson (D) Ga., resisted strong efforts in his house naval affairs committee to modify the language, it was disclosed, by telling members that the words were the president's own. The statement is contained in the "policy amendment" voted into the $1,113,546,000 authorization measure which was reported favorably yesterday.

One member of the naval affairs committee, who did not wish his name used, said that after Vinson had revealed Mr. Roosevelt's interest the amendment adopted was "practically identical with the president's draft."

It was learned that some of the firmest supporters of the New Deal and a bigger navy protested that the language would be construed by isolationists as an affirmation or an extension of President Roosevelt's Chicago address of Oct. 5, in which he cited the principle of quarantine against "an epidemic of world lawlessness."

Members said Vinson admitted under questioning that the amendment had never been approved by the House of Representatives. After conferring with Hull and did not go back to the state department.

DO YOU REMEMBER? 13 YEARS AGO CITY BUILDING WAS OPENED

Today was both Friday and the 13th at the city hall and a few of the employees very few were celebrating the 13th anniversary of the opening of the building.

It was on March 4, 1925, the same day that the late Calvin Coolidge was inaugurated, that the doors of Mansfield's new city hall were formally opened.

Carl H. Stander, then in his second year of his term of office, was at the mayor's desk. H. E. McClure was police chief and William H. Remy was fire chief. Municipal court had not yet been created.

First occupants of the building were the police who moved from the old city jail, the building now occupied by the Wickertsham Printing company, on March 1, 1925.

Police Chief Meade K. Bates, then a patrolman, recalls vividly the moving into the new quarters. He recalled the difficulty he had in getting the first prisoner into the new jail.

"It was the night of the formal opening and hundreds of persons were inspecting the new building, and it was some time before I finally got the prisoner through the crowd and into the jail," Bates explained.

Radio towers, a part of the police communicating system, have since been installed on the roof of the building, an addition has been made to the jail that added more cells and several years ago the third floor of the hall was finished to house the health department.

However few of the persons who took over their offices 13 years ago were still in the building today. Besides several policemen and firemen there was probably only two still at city hall who made the move. They are City Auditor Paul Kelley and his deputy Mrs. Ruth Durtig.

Mrs. Rose pleaded guilty to aiding her husband who is now serving a term in Ohio penitentiary.

BLAME STATE IN RELIEF ROW

Auditor Says Involved System Of Distributing Finances Causes Uncertainty.

C. L. Mitchell, chairman of the board of county commissioners, said the only hope for reduced relief costs is a pick-up in industry and warmer weather, reducing unemployment and the need for fuel and clothing.

The administration of county relief was left with the commissioners by the state when the "matching bill" was passed two months ago.

Despite efforts of commissioners and Relief Director Earl A. Nist to reduce the relief costs, the expense has mounted steadily in recent months.

Unless emergency measures are taken to provide relief funds, less than $5,500 per month will be available to pay relief bills during the rest of the year. It will come from the state.

Charge Jobless Shelby Man Owes $5,000 In Alimony

Jacque Hall, 32, of Shelby, was turned over to Michigan authorities today to face a two-week charge after his sister, Mrs. Myrtle Blake, of Willard, failed to obtain his release here on a writ of habeas corpus.

Hall, who was arrested by Sheriff E. P. Long last week on a warrant from the Wayne county, Michigan, sheriff, was ordered returned to Michigan by Judge C. H. Huston who refused to grant the writ in common pleas court this morning.

Authorities said Hall, who is unemployed, owes about $5,000 in alimony and for support of his 12-year-old daughter, contributing only about $300 for the child's support in the past 10 years.

He was represented in court today by Atty. J. V. Will who asked that the court grant a two-week continuance to permit him to fight Hall's extradition to Michigan.

Will contended that Hall's failure to pay was an act of omission rather than commission and did not constitute a sufficient cause for holding him here.

Hall, who had previously served a workhouse term for non-support, has been free under $500 bond since his arrest last week.

SAVES CHILDREN, DIES IN BLAZE

Grandfather, 60, Perishes in Fire After Helping to Save Three.

ELIZABETHTOWN, N. Y.—(AP)—A grandfather who tossed his three small grandchildren to safety from a second story window perished today when fire destroyed his six-room frame home here.

The charred body of the victim, Gusman Parker, 60, later was recovered from the ruins.

His son, Claudius, 17, stood barefoot in 14 inches of snow and a temperature of 32 degrees below zero and caught the children. He was taken to a hospital with his feet frozen.

Also in a hospital, suffering from cuts and burns, was Claude's sister, Margaret, 20, who jumped from the second story after aiding her father in waiting the youngsters, ranging in age from 13 months to 3 years. They are the children of a married daughter and were visiting their grandfather.

WILSON AID ILL
Col. House Is 'Failing Steadily,' Says War Advisor's Physician.

NEW YORK—(AP)—Col. Edward M. House, 79, confidential aide and war-time advisor to President Woodrow Wilson, was seriously ill at his home today.

Dr. Paul B. Sheldon said Colonel House had been suffering from a complication of ailments for several weeks and was "failing steadily."

A Farmer's Diary

March 3.

TODAY I dug out an old stump which stood on the west side of a wind-swept bank that I might place a line fence there.

I noticed, as I struggled with the stubborn roots, that the pick would gouge into a layer of .05 in earth 10 or 12 inches beneath the surface. As I struck the dirt a slanting blow, chips of ice, like dirty brittle shavings flew into the air and scattered all about. I did not know that frost had penetrated to such a depth this year. It will require many days of warm sunshine and rain to melt this bony crust.

This alternate freezing and thawing of the soil has great interest and value for the farmer. When the rigorous winters pitch the mercury far below the zero mark they send the icy needles deeper into the earth.

Because this happens I am assured of the ampler reservoir of moisture in my fields; like a giant leaven, it has made our surface soil loose and spongy—"mellow," as we say when garden beds are spaded.

These icy fingers, too, have crushed myriad pests that otherwise would swarm through the summer air and destroy our greenest fields.

When I lie down in the lush grass on some sweet June day, I shall rest. The hordes of crawling, biting, stinging insect enemies have been stayed by the mighty hand of Winter.

Truly "He hath spread a table before me in the presence of mine enemies . . . and filled my cup to overflowing."

cottages. Two hundred persons reportedly were marooned at the camp, 80 miles up in the mountains east of Los Angeles.

Homes of 1500 in the Los Angeles area were made uninhabitable by the high waters. Mrs. Esther Chadburn, Red Cross field representative, reported.

Disrupted communication and transportation facilities hampered accurate checks as to the number of dead and missing and retarded progress of clearing away debris.

The unprecedented storm, which left a total of 11.06 inches in Los Angeles had passed northward. Only cloudiness and snow in the mountains were forecast for today.

Coroner Frank Nance reported he officially had recorded ten deaths in Los Angeles county. Among the dead at Riverside four were said to be children. Five persons were missing there. Fifteen were killed at Anaheim. Riverside reported six known dead. San Bernardino was the scene of seven deaths.

The Santa Ana river overflowed north of the city, forcing hundreds of persons from their homes.

Riverside was without light and power for a 28-hour period. The Los Angeles city council appropriated $25,000 to be used by City Engineer Lloyd Aldrich and the board of public works in clearing streets and generally rehabilitating the city.

CHAIN STORES CENTURIES OLD

Chinese Business Man Had Idea in 200 B. C., O.S.U. Professors Claim.

COLUMBUS—Two Ohio State University professors in a book have undertaken to show that the chain store system existed in ancient Oriental and European civilizations.

The book, called "The Chain Store Problem," was written by Profs. Theodore N. Beckman and Herman C. Nolen, members of the business organization department at the university.

Their researches disclosed that a Chinese business man had the idea in 200 B. C. and operated a chain of many units in the Celestial Kingdom.

Likewise, they noted the discovery of a poster found in the lava covered ruins of Pompeii, wiped out by the eruption of Mt. Vesuvius, which advertised for lease property consisting of 900 retail shops.

Fur Trade Cited.

Apparently the first chain merchandising organization to operate in the western hemisphere was the Hudson's Bay company, which began trading in Canada prior to 1750, established itself as unchallenged in the rich fur trade and subsequently spread its activities into other fields.

The authors found that the first system bearing a distinct likeness to modern chain stores in this country was inaugurated by the Worthington Manufacturing company, in Ohio in 1818.

Only a few years later, the book discloses, the first attempt to levy heavy taxes against incipient chains was made. In 1835 the Ohio legislature passed an act providing a $1,000 fine for business men opening more than one unit of their business in Hamilton county (Cincinnati).

BRIGHT EGGS

Feeds Hens Harmless Dyes to Get Color Variety.

BLOOMINGTON, Ill. — (P) — George Black of Arcola is feeding his hens harmless dyes of various colors so they will lay many-hued eggs.

Black says the dyes do not change the taste of the eggs and appear to color-minded customers.

Prefers Death

Seeking to avoid a protracted trial and indicating he was "anxious to get it over with," John Henry Seadlund is shown, left, departing from Chicago court, where he pleaded guilty to the abduction-murder of Charles Ross, prosperous Chicagoan. The prisoner told his attorney he wanted no aid and that he would rather die than serve a long prison sentence.

ASKS $15,000

Father of Injured Bicyclist Sues Auto Driver.

Damages and a hospital bill totaling $15,000 for his 16-year-old son are sought by Lloyd Armstrong, Springfield, in a suit filed yesterday in common pleas court against Paul Hassinger, Mansfield. The youth, Ralph Armstrong, was knocked off his bicycle while riding near his home last Oct. 23 by a car driven by Hassinger, the petition states.

Suffering multiple injuries, including a brain concussion, fractures of both legs and body lacerations, the boy was in a hospital for three weeks, the plaintiff contends. He further states that the boy's injuries will leave him permanently disabled.

Hassinger is accused of driving in a reckless manner and at an excessive speed.

A Serious Charge.

SINCE January, the relief problem in Richland county has been steadily becoming more grave.

Relief costs have increased ten-fold since last summer. Adding to the seriousness of the situation comes the statement of C. M. Dawson, special relief investigator in the office of the state auditor, who charges that the county has a "mix-up" for handling the relief problem where it should have a system.

Finding money to finance relief may be difficult, and the problem of relief itself may be a vexing one.

But so long as we have the problem—and there is little to indicate that it will vanish into thin air in the near future—it would seem high time to tackle the problem with the greatest degree of efficiency possible, to eliminate the greatest possible amount of waste.

Investigator Dawson's charge is a serious one—and if the situation in Richland county is as he describes, an immediate remedy ought to be sought.

Wings of Democracy.

PAN-AMERICANISM is on the mend again, after a period in which many of our Latin-American neighbors seemed to be cooling toward the United States and forming stronger ties with Old World countries. The biggest eye-opener has been the flight of the six great bombing planes from Florida to Buenos Aires in honor of the inauguration of President Ortiz.

As an aviation feat it was notably successful, and is said to have been "the longest and fastest flight ever made by the bombing craft of any nation." As a diplomatic feat it was a triumph. Nothing done by this country, not even the visit of President Roosevelt to the Pan-American conference, has ever roused so much enthusiasm among the Argentinians.

"Welcome to the aviators of democracy!" said a local newspaper in an eight-column streamer across the front page, with the letters in stars-and-stripes design. It continued with this unprecedented tribute:

"Not one of them carries on his conscience the remorse of having put his courage or his technical experience at the service of destruction or crime. None has bombarded cities; none has spread horror and death among defenseless women and children. They have not flown into foreign territory with imperialistic aims to subject and terrorize their fellow-men."

"They have come here on a mission of good-will, and nothing connected with their splendid trip is in any way suggestive of the spirit that has brought other flyers to these shores."

"Only on rare occasions it is possible to extend a welcome with the sincerity we feel today in greeting these American aviators. Every man and woman in this country who cherishes democracy and freedom will join us in formulating this salutation to the aviators of peace who bring us a new message of true democracy."

All we can say to that is, "Muchas gracias!"

Good For Your Eyes.

THE announcement in yesterday's News-Journal concerning the installation of a new type face in the news columns is one in which this paper takes pardonable pride—and one that should mean, ultimately, a great deal to its large family of readers.

In typography, as in many other fields, research workers are constantly experimenting in quest of improvements.

The new Intertype Regal type face is one of the improvements that have been made, and as a service to its readers The News-Journal takes pleasure in making the installation.

Hundreds of words could be used in a detailed technical description of the new type. But to put it briefly, the letters in the new type are larger, and the space between the lines of type will be increased.

This installation will make the paper easier to read—which means less strain on the eyes.

Those who have suffered from poor vision as a result of eye strain will appreciate what that means.

A Lesson in Logic (?)

FOR those Ohioans who have not yet learned to appreciate the masterful logic by which Governor Martin L. Davey, plagued by those "Russian" inquisitors of the senate guides the destinies of this state, this reminder may be helpful.

Harry Sparks, bituminous engineer in the state highway department testifies that Ohio pays $2,000,000 more for "hot mix" paving than it should, charging conspiracy between the department and members of the hot mix association.

He is fired because he is "disloyal to the people of Ohio."

Other witnesses before the committee charge that the state liquor department entered into a contract for hauling liquor at a price far in excess of one that would yield a fair profit, and the committee recommends that the officials responsible for that state of affairs be discharged.

"I am the only person who can discharge those men and they will not be fired," replies the governor.

Probably because of their unusual loyalty—but to what and whom?

City Service Careers.

THE College of the City of New York and Controller McGoldrick have co-operated in offering a special course in city finances and accounting for civil service employees. Mr. McGoldrick's idea was to promote career service among the workers in his office. The first lecture of the course was held the other evening, and more than 1,300 city employees attended. Many had to be turned away for lack of space.

Under its new charter the metropolis will begin next summer to operate on a pay-as-you-go basis. There is even greater need than usual for a corps of employees, particularly in the controller's department, prepared for their duties and interested in the job as a career, not as a political plum.

The New Yorkers' example is one which might well be followed in other cities. In fact, New York is really following some smaller communities which put their civic affairs on a businesslike basis long ago. As taxpayers become more aware of the burden of local taxes, they also become more interested in the spending of tax money.

McIntyre's New York Glimpses

—By O. O. MCINTYRE

THOUGHTS while strolling: The orchestra leader Andre Kostelanetz's name sounds like a sled scraping raw ground. Why the living theater hangs on: Al Shean, at 70, with burlesque beginnings, stars in one of the most moving dramas of the year. As a priest.

The utter desolation of the ultra-Japanese shops: Whatever became of The Voice of Experience? Ethel Merman in one of the Spanish high-comb hits. And if Morton Downey hasn't gone and busted out in one of those cutie mustaches. My vote for a stunning lady: Mrs. Harold Talbot.

City slicker with a yap barber shop name: "Sport" Ward. For making a column about nothing at all interesting, give me Heywood Brown. Ethel Barrymore seems to have a new lease on life, physically, artistically. The McCrory haberdashery—where Roy Howard gets those shirts!

New gadget for the curb hawkers: A key chain with an electric keyhole finder. With all the solemnity among humorists, none has the woe-gone look Ring Lardner had. Lawrence Cowley. Thaw sounds like yanking a champagne cork. Lawrence Tibbett seems to glide along on roller skates.

Memory: The row of hot pumpkin pies on the outside kitchen window sill to cool. Without a Kim Hubbard or Will Rogers, it is surprising the world seems as worth while as it does.

The most magnificent of the seasonal coming out parties was that for Nancy Van Vleet. Her mother practically took over the Waldorf dining rooms and told the decorators to go to it. It is reported to have cost $50,000. Another debutante splurge, said to have cost $20,000, was for Dorothy, the daughter of the M. H. Aylesworths. In other years the high in coming out affairs were established by Barbara Hutton and Natalie Coe, both of whom married foreign nobles. I have attended several of the delectable affairs—notably those for Gloria Baker, Dorothy Aylesworth and Natalie Coe—and they certainly made me feel, at least for the evening, that this depression stuff was the bunk.

Samuel Goldwyn, I hear, has thumbs downed the lingual faux pas rigamarole that his publicity department overworked. Goldwyn makes a slip now and then—as who doesn't?—but they are not so numerous and his accent is barely noticeable. Not half the reported grammatical mixups are really his. Just for a gag, too, now and then, he would put over a honey. But he soon found that in meeting strangers, especially foreign representatives, they were more interested in trying to catch a blunder than in hearing what he had to say. Goldwyn has proved his artistry and business acumen by becoming one of the top producers of the time, while a lot of folk were trying to laugh him to oblivion.

Broadway has a new name for the jitters. I am not certain of the spelling, but it is pronounced: Attagizivies. Some say Harry Richman brought it back from London and others say it is a coinage of the Ritz Brothers. And that reminds me that loquacious word that Goldwyn has proved his artistry and business acumen by becoming one of the top producers of the time, while a lot of folk were trying to laugh him to oblivion.

Speaking of jitters, it's my guess the metropolis is tapering off in deep drinking. The accomplished boozier who, valeted down to the quick, started out at lunch himself off in some gutter, the next dawn, is rarely with us. The soda jerkers tell me they have few calls any more for the early morning panacea for the hang-over. And the modern Lyndecker—model bartender will tell you he has never seen a case of the shakes that took a couple of quick triple brandies to stave down. They used to be frequent.

The famous old Knickerbocker bar, featuring the Maxfield Parrish King Cole, was a morning round-up for the fancy drinker of old Manhattan nights. The wealthy habitués of the place on the corner of the night weaved in around 9 a. m. or not only a little of the hair of the dog that bit them but perhaps something for a mouse eye. And as a rule by noon they were potted all over again and tarin' to go.

THE THREE E'S OF TRAFFIC SAFETY

Spy Scare!—Is It Something to Worry About?

—By CHARLES P. STEWART

WASHINGTON—It is not much to the credit of the American sense of humor that so much attention is paid to recent accounts of the activity of foreign spies in our midst.

It is news, of course, that our G-Men have made a batch of arrests on espionage charges of late. It is a rather colorful story, in fact, especially considering the circumstance that a "beautiful woman" is one of the suspects. Oh, yes, it makes interesting reading. But that anyone should take it seriously!—that's too funny. The alleged spies' intentions may have been bad, to be sure. Perhaps they should be sent to Alcatraz on that ground. Or perhaps they should be penalized for obtaining money under false pretenses from their employers. However, the notion that any of them ever obtained a teaspoonful of worthwhile American army or navy information for the benefit of Uncle Sam's potential overseas enemies is laughable.

STRAINS IMAGINATION

Part of the yarn is to the effect that the plotters tried to lay hands on a bunch of Yankee passport blanks, to facilitate the operations of confederates abroad. If that is true, it was an offense, certainly. The charge also is made that the conspirators planned to murder an American army officer to gain possession of secret documents he was supposed to be carrying about with him. That, likewise, if proved, would be bad business, involving international complications. But prove it!—or that any foreign government sanctioned it!

This reported plot obviously was of German origin, supposing that there was such a plot. Is anyone an cuckoo as to believe that the Hitler regime approved a program calling for the killing of an American army officer in New York, to rob him of secret papers? One may disapprove of Hitlerism all he pleases, but it strains the imagination to think of it as that crass.

WHAT A STIPEND?

True, it may be argued that Hitler did not suggest the matter; that it was the scheme, not of Berlin, but of Berlin's individual spies in this country. Well, according to our G-Men's version, who was Germany's chief spy?

Why, he was getting from his

How It Started

"To Have a Bone to Pick with you!" It is not only the children, who say that, although the expression is a popular one with them. All sorts of people of all ages use the words to signify a grievance, a cause for admonition or reproach, a possible misunderstanding to be cleared up. The phrase is no example of modern slang. On the contrary it goes back to early English literature, having its first recorded use in the old work called "Answers to the Treatise of the Cross," by Chaucer. It dates 1385.

THEIR "SECRETS"

Furthermore, where do spies get their information? We have one of them now (a cashed-in American navy officer) doing time in a federal prison for selling information to Japan.

His defense was that all the information he purveyed was acquired by a perusal of publications available to anyone (such as "Jane's Fighting Ships," a periodical for sale to anyone willing to pay for it—as open as "Who's Who" to the general public).

This ex-officer read it intelligently, as an expert, assimilated it and distilled it up in pre-digested form to Japan, which was willing to pay for his interpretation.

Every important embassy or legation in Washington has a military and naval observer.

This chap is a licensed spy. He doesn't snoop, but he mixes with our army and navy men. He tells, professionally, at his club, what he has to tell, in exchange for what his American associates have to tell to him. There's no little secrecy about it. There is not, indeed, much to be kept secret.

HOW IT'S DONE

There is in this country a group of purveyors to businessmen, of supposed "inside" commercial and governmental information.

These folk read the daily and trade newspapers very carefully.

It's hard work to keep up with all sorts of business trends, but they do it; they watch charts and price fluctuations and car loadings, et cetera, and they co-ordinate all this "dope," which even a big businessman can't keep track of.

Then they sell their predigested information.

I've no doubt it's worth having.

There's a market for it, anyway. Same way with international spies and the right magazines carefully, present their conclusions snappily, and class as first-class espionage agents. That's all it amounts to.

Not that murder plots if any, are not overdoing matters.

Listen, World!

Don't Read Page 113!

—By ELSIE ROBINSON

HAVE YOU a boy? Or are you interested in a boy?

Some mischievous, restless, inquisitive young scallawag who's always raising Cain . . . getting in messes . . . and facing Painful Consequences? Yet whose face, when he sleeps, is still that of the little rascal you cuddled at bedtime, such a few short years ago?

Have you a boy like that? You have?

THEN DON'T, IF YOU VALUE YOUR SNUFFNESS, READ PAGE 113 OF LEONARD HARRISON'S AND PRYOR GRANT'S NEW BOOK—"YOUTH IN THE TOILS."

It's a small book. A simply told book. No sob-sister slush. No Hollywood hysterics. Just the plain, accurate, factual account of what happens to restless, reckless, mischievous youngsters under our modern American form of justice. No—it isn't an "expose," nor an arraignment. Nobody gets Shown Up . . . or Put On The Spot. There isn't a boom-ta-ra-ra word or gesture in all its scant 166 pages. Yet, in its quiet way, it is the most completely horrible and pitiful book I have ever read.

There have been so many books about Tough Brats. And their Carrying-on. Too many, in fact. Messrs. Harrison and Grant didn't mean to do another book like that. They were serious, quiet, thoughtful, Mr. Harrison is a criminologist who spends his days working with the police on social problems. Mr. Grant, who died just as his book was going to press, had given his life to help boys, had founded the Boys' Bureau. They were working together under the direction of other serious and sincere citizens.

"The Delinquency Committee," composed of John D. Rockefeller, 2d, Chairman, George M. Denforth, Jr., and Edward L. Richards.

The Delinquency Committee weren't seeking smut, nor looking for melodrama. They wanted The Truth. The Truth about what happened to youngsters AFTER "the cop had come" . . . what happens hourly to youth in our snuffing courts, jails, reformatories, and penitentiaries. "YOUTH IN THE TOILS" is the story of what happens . . . the quiet, matter-of-fact and utterly appalling record of what happens.

The sudden closing in . . . the swift and horrible enlightenment, the agony that brands for life—ADMINISTERED, NOT BY LAWFUL AGENTS, BUT BY THE CRIMINAL MOBS OF THUGS AND PERVERTS WHO SECRETLY DOMINATE PRISON EXISTENCE AND MAKE IT AN UNPARDONABLE ABOMINATION.

"YOUTH IN THE TOILS" is the story of what you do . . . or pay to have done. It's to bad boys who have made his first mistake. And if you have a spark of decency in you, you should scout for the nearest manhole after reading that book and pull the lid in after you!

I am no sob-sister. I have no admiration for, no patience with, the hardened adult criminal. Nor do I believe in giving Cookies and Kisses to vicious young smarties in the nose and get by with it. But I do believe in civilized discipline . . . in intelligent rehabilitation. And, theoretically, we have such discipline and rehabilitation in our better law enforcement institutions. But actually we have . . .

AS FOUL AND FURTIVE HELLSHEDNESS AS EVER DEFILED A DECENT NATION'S NAME.

The theory's swell. The practice is—unprintable. That's why I can't tell what is written on page 113. Or several other pages. That is why I, as a mother and newspaper woman, can't sleep at night . . . thinking of what is going on in snickering, darkened cells . . . in isolated awful corners.

No, it isn't the warden's fault. Nor the sheriff's . . . nor the governor's . . . It's YOUR and MY fault. It's the ghastly result of YOUR and MY ignorance and smugness and beastly indifference. We permit these things to endure, not because we approve of them, BUT BECAUSE WE CAN'T BE BOTHERED TO LEARN ABOUT THEM.

Well, we have our chance to learn about them now. We have our chance to see what is really happening to that treckled fifteen-year-old tyke who swiped that crate of cantaloupes. It will cost you exactly $1.50 to learn what is happening. And if you can put that small book down without tears on your face and shame in your heart—you're ready for a "chive" and a grilling yourself. Citizen Jones

Let's Look Around

Along The Road to Nashville.

—By G. J. KOCHENDERFER

NASHVILLE, Tenn.—The drive of 188 miles from Louisville to Nashville must be made in a very leisurely way, with several side trips along the line, or much will be missed that will later be regretted.

Who would make such a trip, for instance, without swinging a few miles out of the way to visit Bardstown, second oldest town in Kentucky and made famous as the location of the original "Old Kentucky Home," immortalized by the song which the youthful Stephen

Collins Foster wrote while visiting there in the summer of 1852. Built in 1795 by Judge John Rowan, prominent Kentucky lawyer and once a United States senator, "My Old Kentucky Home" is a spacious southern home done in early colonial style and along lines favored by well-to-do Kentuckians of those early days.

Typical of the manner of expressing patriotism at that particular time is the arrangement of stairways in flights of thirteen steps, in recognition of the 13 original colonies. After remaining in the Rowan family for four generations "My Old Kentucky Home" was now passed to ownership of the state, with provision that it is to be perpetually maintained as a shrine, with all of the furnishings, relics and souvenirs preserved, including the desk at which Stephen Foster sat while writing the song.

BARDSTOWN also points with pride to its historic St. Joseph's cathedral, the oldest cathedral west of the Allegheny mountains, and to Wickland, built in 1813, which was the home of three governors. Present-day activities to which Bardstown people also refer is that its immediate vicinity has been chosen as the location of 15 large distilleries.

LESS than 30 miles farther down the road we come upon the birthplace and boyhood home of Abraham Lincoln, where an impressive granite memorial hall has been erected to forever house the humble log cabin in which Lincoln was born.

Hodgenville is the small county seat town to which thousands of visitors come to come each year to pay tribute to the martyred president and to see the places familiar to him as a young boy before the family moved to Indiana in 1816. A few miles north of Hodgenville a marker indicates the location of the first home that Lincoln remembered and over the hill, "Horse" distance away, a rough stone on which are carved the initials, "T. L.," marks the burial place of an infant brother Thomas.

STRANGE are the workings of fate. While Abraham was playing as a little boy in the vicinity of Hodgenville, another little boy, not quite a year older, was also playing around in the vicinity of Fairview—not quite one hundred miles southwest of Hodgenville.

One of these boys was destined to become the president of the United States—the other—Jefferson Davis—was destined to win honors in the Mexican war, to serve in the United States senate, and eventually to become president of the Confederate states. Each was to win high honors and to suffer greatly for the cause he espoused.

FARTHER along the road to Nashville we come upon the cave section of Kentucky, with its marvelous underground exhibits of the work of nature during the millions of years that preceded the advent of mankind on earth. The greater part of several days would be required in making trips through the various caves that have been opened to the public, so that it becomes merely a matter of selection for any except students of cave formations of different kinds.

In addition to Mammoth cave, which is included in a national park, other caves in the vicinity are the Hidden River cave, Mammoth Onyx cave and the Floyd Collins Crystal cave, all of which share in the patronage of around one hundred thousand visitors a year.

NEARING Nashville there are increasing signs that we are headed in the direction of spring. Forsythia and other of the early flowers are beginning to appear, the grass is tinging with green and red bud bushes are showing indications of awakening.

AND, before it is forgotten, A there was opportunity to see "Snow White and the Seven Dwarfs," that full-length animated picture by Walter Disney, of which you have been hearing. It is of a sort that seems to be pleasing everybody and you'll surely want to see it. Somehow it rather makes you forget that you are grown up and carries you back to the time when you were terribly worried about whether the old witch was going to do next.

But here in Nashville there is much talk about Andrew Jackson and "The Hermitage," and we'll have to be driving out there.

Shall We License Monopolies?

—By LESLIE EICHELE

YESTERDAY, this column wrote of a renewed effort by good government forces for state, county and city managers.

Today, we write of a different kind of movement developing—for the control of corporations for the benefit of investors and the public interest.

The licensing bill of Senator Joseph C. Mahoney of Wyoming may become the basic instrument. Incidentally, this bill is under a furious barrage from large interests who see in it the "loss of freedom." And liberals are equally worried because Senator Mahoney has made concessions—especially in the exemption of corporations, less than $100,000, the vesting in the courts instead of a board the power to revoke licenses and the dropping of provisions for labor standards.

Sentiment has changed in regard to large corporations. Monopolies are the natural development of capitalism. The contention now is that government must control every action of monopolies in the interest of the people at large.

Anti-trust laws served no purpose. It is a long drawn-out prosecution was successful, fines were administered. By "punishment" solved nothing. Prices still were controlled. Politicians were helpless. A sort of economic anarchy continued to reign.

Tens of thousands of people lost their savings in the pyramids of the insulins, the Van Sweringens and others. And vast properties were controlled by a mere pittance of investment by manipulators. Government, society and other businesses were flouted—as were economic laws. But economic laws take their toll—and did.

Thus, uncontrolled monopoly becomes a form of destruction second only to war. (I wish all readers could see some of the results as closely as I have.)

FAR-REACHING

A licensing bill, however "mild" it may be after passing through the opposition of conservatives in congress, will be far-reaching.

Times change, men change, the conservatives of today die, the "radicals" become conservatives, as time moves on. And the law of today will be amended many, many times, until the government will have complete control of every monopoly.

This is true in every major nation today, no matter what form of government it may have. And why? Because of a "reform wave."

Because the monopolies, as they grow larger and larger, collect a larger and larger share of tax on the people, and become merely competitors but antagonists of government. It is either monopolies or the government—and the government is certain to win.

The government must win, to carry on to the end, the government can be the only monopoly.

2 HISTORICAL NOVELS TELL OF ENGLAND'S PAST

New Library Fiction Includes Another by Phil Stong on Life in 'Corn Belt'

Two historical novels dealing with exciting times in England's past, "Mine Is The Kingdom" by Jane Oliver, and "Starforth" by Lucille Borden, are among the new fiction books at the Mansfield Public Library this week.

The first one is a dramatic story of James Stewart, first king of the united kingdom of England and Scotland. "Starforth" tells of the bitter conflict that took place between the Roman Catholic church and the Church of England during the time of the Tudors. Maris Starforth is invited to be a child companion of Mary Tudor. Her life as Mary's friend through their childhood, and through the successive reigns of Henry VIII, Edward VI, and Elizabeth reveals the intrigues and romance of Tudor court life.

Phil Stong, who has gained a wide following with his stories of sturdy characters from the "corn belt", has finished another novel, "The Rebellion of Lennie Barlow", another addition to the library shelves.

Lennie is a southern boy who comes to Pittsboro, Ia. His struggle to achieve popularity among his classmates at school is humorously told. The characters of the book are sturdy village folks and Aunt Marcy Latham is a school teacher of the old style, who believed that a hickory rod was as indispensable in the school room as a "speller".

Other fiction this week include "As of The Gods," by Rollo Walter Brown, "Another Opheila," "Iron Trail," Brand and "It wasn't A Nightmare," by Harv "The Seventeen Million" by the lat Ogden Mills proposes that those voters who registered their opposition to the present administration at the last election should join forces and work to maintain those American institutions which they believe are menaced by the New Deal.

Maxwell Anderson's recent play, "The Star Wagon" is a fanciful bit of whimsy which makes it possible for a man and a woman to return to the days of their youth, and to start their lives over, going different paths.

A book has been presented to the library by ASIORC, the Rosicrucian Order, in San Jose, Cal. "The Symbolic Prophecy of The Great Pyramid" was written by Dr. Harve Spencer Lewis Ph. D.

Two recent books deal with the problem of U. S. foreign relations. Can the United States Keep Out of War? In Must We Fight in Asia? indicates that the author, Nathaniel Pfeffer thinks war with Japan inevitable. On the other hand, "The Final Choice" by Stephen and Joan Raushen-

TRACES FOUND OF PRE-INDIAN RACE IN WEST

Excavations in New Mexico Yield Stone Weapons of 12,000 Years Ago.

PHILADELPHIA — A hardy race of primitive men lived in the Southwest 12,000 to 14,000 years ago, before the American Indian arrived on the continent, according to further evidence uncovered in New Mexico by Philadelphia archaeologists.

A joint expedition of the University of Pennsylvania Museum and the Academy of Natural Sciences here has returned with finds, uncovered near Clovis, N. M., which place the race in the Pleistocene age.

In a clay and gravel pit near Clovis, the expedition found stone dart heads, a lump of earth containing the vertebrae of an extinct species of bison with a dart head close to the bone, and four skulls of bison.

Culture Proved.
The dart heads show, according to the scientists, that man was a contemporary of the towering, shaggy mammoths and bison that roamed the North American continent more than 120 centuries ago.

Last summer's expedition, under Dr. Edgar B. Howard, museum and the academy, returned to the same spot where they had excavated the remains of a prehistoric mammoth, together with several similar dart heads, in 1936.

Disclosure of the significance of the expedition's finds was made in a report not yet published. The three-months work of last summer was particularly significant in bolstering the first proof — uncovered the previous year — of ancient man's existence in North America, according to the archaeologists.

Discovery of the dart heads with the fossilized bones, described as an "extremely rare" occurrence, indicates that ancient man hunted the huge animals for food.

The spear head found near the bison's vertebrae apparently was thrown with tremendous force. There is no evidence to show that the wound killed the animal, but the stone head was carried by the bison until its death, the report said.

Similar crude spear points first were discovered near Folsom, N. M., several years ago and since have been known to archaeologists as "Folsom" heads. The joint Philadelphia expedition's discovery of the heads together with fossilized remains has given scientists their first evidence as to the age of the chipped stone weapons.

Archaeologists have theorized that the Clovis gravel pit may have been the bottom of an ancient lake which dried up as the Southwest became increasingly arid. As the water evaporated, they believe, prehistoric beasts may have stampeded to what water was left, crushing weaker members of herds.

The rumor that Japan is building or planning a 43,000-ton super-battleship, nearly 25 percent bigger than the mightiest warship afloat, has been taken seriously by the United States, Britain and France. In Japan, they have asked her, planning warships larger than the 35,000-ton limit of the 1936 naval treaties?

This chart shows how a 43,000-ton ship would stack up against the 35,000-ton U. S. S. Washington now under construction. Figures for the Washington are based on estimates in Jane's "Fighting Ships." Figures on the super-battleship are estimates based on comparison with existing ships.

CAR SALES UP

15 More Sold In February
Than In Previous Month.

Fifteen more new automobiles were sold in Richland county last month than in January, but truck sales dropped off more than half, according to the monthly report, compiled by Norman P. Henry, deputy county clerk of courts in charge of motor registrations.

New car sales during February totaled 70 as compared with 55 in January, the report showed. Only seven trucks were sold during the month, while 15 were distributed by dealers in January.

Registrations also fell off in February, 1,358 being recorded by the clerk of courts as compared with 1,697 during the preceding month.

PROPOSE CHAIN OF FLOOD WALLS FOR OHIO RIVER

House Members Push Measure to Control Water From Pittsburgh to Cairo.

(By Associated Press) WASHINGTON — A chain of flood walls and levees along the Ohio river from the Golden Triangle of Pittsburgh to Cairo is the goal of flood control advocates in congress.

Such a program, proposed by house members from the Ohio valley, is before the house flood control committee which decided recently to seek action this session on a comprehensive national flood prevention program.

Congress authorized expenditure of $24,800,000 last year for walls and similar works along the river. Army engineers selected 15 projects for which funds were to be allotted by President Roosevelt.

The new program would provide for the construction of walls and levees at two score other communities at a total cost of $100,000,000—$80,000,000 by the federal government for construction and $20,000,000 by local governments for property rights.

The local cost to the federal government for a comprehensive program over a period of years probably would exceed $1,000,000,000 if congress followed the recommendations of some flood control leaders that the local governments be relieved of assuming the cost of property rights for flood control reservoirs at headwaters.

These leaders also have suggested that the federal government pay half the cost of property rights for walls and levees where local governments showed they could not raise the full amount. Such a plan was authorized for last year's Ohio valley program, although projects were approved only in communities able to furnish rights free to the government.

Cities and towns that might benefit under the proposed $100,000,000 Ohio valley program include:

New Kensington, Pa., Pittsburgh, Pa., Wellsburg, W. Va., Martins Ferry, O., Bellaire, O., Wheeling, W. Va., Benwood, W. Va., New Martinsville, W. Va., Parkersburg, W. Va., Middletown, O., Huntington, W. Va., New Boston, O., Portsmouth, O., Ashland, Ky., Cincinnati, O., Covington, Ky., Lawrenceburg, Ind., Jeffersonville, Ind., Clarksville, Ind., Louisville, Ky., New Albany, Ind., Mound City, Ill., and Cairo, Ill.

Plan Drive to Collect Liquor Taxes From Gangsters

AGENTS HUNT BOOTLEGGERS' CACHED FUNDS

Justice Department Operatives Go After Millions Claimed Due U. S. Government.

(By International News Service) WASHINGTON—An intensive inquiry into the financial affairs of former big-shot gangsters and racketeers has been initiated by the justice department in an effort to collect many millions of dollars in unpaid federal liquor taxes, bonds and fines.

Federal operatives, it was revealed today, are attempting to find the caches of Al Capone and his lieutenants as well as the concealed assets of hundreds of others ranging from erstwhile leading public enemies down to the rank and file of gangland.

Claim 20 Million Owed U. S. This drive against the underworld is headed by Joseph Lawrence, director of the department's bond and spirits division. He contended that Capone and others owe the government more than $20,000,000 in liquor taxes growing out of pre-repeal operations.

In addition, Lawrence's field agents are seeking to collect approximately $15,000,000 of forfeited bail bond judgments and $2,500,000 in fines levied against criminals which have not yet been paid. Efforts to collect this money are being made in co-operation with U. S. district attorneys throughout the nation.

Liquor taxes of $120,000 are outstanding against Capone and 14 members of his former Chicago liquor syndicate, Lawrence said. Although his operatives have failed to trace any cash or property listed in Capone's name, several of his henchmen recently offered to compromise the claims against them.

Compromise Rejected. According to Lawrence, these offers were deemed inadequate by the government and were rejected. Since the government bases its claims on allegations of fraud, defendants are not protected by the statute of limitations.

Fines assessed against criminals and which are still outstanding involve individuals both in and out of prison. In some cases it is difficult to collect these fines because of ingenious methods utilized by criminals in concealing their holdings.

Crusading Barber Delivers Another Attack On Davey (By International News Service) AKRON—Writing across the front windows of his shop, John M. Curry, crusading barber, today delivered another attack on Governor Martin L. Davey.

The state board of barber examiners has issued a suspension order against Curry for alleged violation of the barber sanitary code. The order is to become effective March 15.

"Were the governor more concerned with filling empty stomachs than with feathering his own nest," the crusading barber wrote, "there would be little or no occasion to fumigate the political dung hill down at Columbus. That goes for the municipality, too. My hat's off to the man who can skin a polecat and escape the smell."

Charging that political criticisms he wrote on the windows of his shop "met with disapproval of the governor and influenced" action against him, Curry also filed a petition in Summit county common pleas court seeking to restrain the suspension order.

In the petition, he charged the board with "playing politics."

Defense Bill Adds to Britons' Tax Burden

UP and DOWN THE STREET

"Bin" is rapidly developing into a North Main street bums. He is the Boston terror belonging to John Fitter, 43 Atchison avenue, who runs away when the mood strikes him—and is invariably found somewhere in the vicinity of North Main. He ran away again yesterday and his friends reported seeing him wandering waggily around a woman's ready-to-wear store on North Main, but so far he hasn't been found. He is easily recognized because of distinctive markings—one brown and one white eye and one brown and one white ear.

Thomas Jefferson Shocker, the "baby" of McLaughlin Post, G. A. R., reaches his "majority" today. He is the last one of the Civil war veterans to reach the age of 50. He has been confined to his home, 10 Boughton avenue, for a number of weeks, and is not seen around the old club rooms where he used to spend the greater part of his days. The club rooms are deserted now, except for occasional visits from William Hammett, 91, the most active of all the surviving veterans.

Jigsaw puzzles may not have the vogue that they had a few years ago, but they still have their devotees. Harold Gutekunst, 1100 Yennum avenue, and his missus ate their meals off the kitchen sink for two days this week because he had started a puzzle on the dinette table and refused to have it disturbed. In desperation his wife put all other duties aside and sat down to work it out in his absence. That night they were able to eat their meal in the orthodox manner—but "Goody" is still grumbling because the joy of struggling over his own puzzle was taken away from him.

Some kind of an endurance record for volleying in a ping pong match was set last night in the final contest of the city table tennis tournament at the Y.M.C.A. between Donald Cram, "Y" physical instructor and his opponent, Frank Balough. In the final set, Cram, the champion, Cram and Balough battled the small celluloid ball back and forth across the table for 99 times without a miss. Cram missed the 100th shot to give the singles championship to Balough.

PUBLISHER DIES ABOARD YACHT

R. P. Scripps, 42, Was Head of Scripps-Howard Chain; Started Career at 16.

SAN FRANCISCO—(AP)—Robert P. Scripps, 42, principal stockholder in the Scripps-Howard chain of newspapers, died aboard his yacht off lower California. It was learned here today.

The publishing executive, who began his newspaper career at the age of 16, died while the yacht, the Nova Del Mar, was anchored off Santa Margarita Island, lower California.

Cost guard officers here were informed that Scripps' body was transferred last Wednesday evening to the Panama Pacific liner Pennsylvania, due in Los Angeles Saturday. The time of his death was not contained in a message from the liner.

Confirmation of the death was given in New York City by William W. Hawkins, chairman of the board of Scripps-Howard.

Scripps was the son of the late E. W. Scripps, founder of the newspaper chain which is represented by dailies in many large cities of the United States. He leaves his widow and six children.

Scripps became editorial director of the Scripps-Howard and Scripps-McRae newspapers in 1917.

He was president and treasurer of the E. W. Scripps company; and a director of the Newspaper Enterprise Association Service, The Newspaper Information Service, and of the United Press associations. He also was a trustee of Miami University.

Scripps maintained homes in West Chester, O., and at Miramar, San Diego county, Calif.

HEART BALM SUIT INVOLVING RECTOR GOES TO JURY TODAY

(By Associated Press) STEUBENVILLE—Corr Lillian Burnham, divorcee, and the Rev. Harold C. Zeis, Episcopal church rector—once lovers, but now antagonists in a $100,000 breach of promise suit—turned to federal court today for the final word in their tangled affair.

A jury of twelve sober-faced men listened for three days to the story of the eight-year courtship of Mr. Zeis and Miss Burnham—a courtship which started soon after the minister met the divorcee in Bellefontaine, O., in 1927.

Only final arguments of attorneys and the charge of Judge Meil G. Underwood remained.

The minister, taking the stand as one of the final witnesses, said: "There is no question in the world I was in love with her. I always loved her."

In January, 1936, two months after the courtship ended, Mr. Zeis married Miss Emma Carter Sharpe, wealthy and socially prominent widow of Steubenville.

The clergyman, admitting that he wanted to marry the divorcee for years, told the difficulties of arranging such a ceremony.

"The law of the church," he said, "is that clergymen shall not marry persons who have been divorced. In another section, there is one exception—the divorce for the innocent party in a case of adultery. In such instances, the permission of the bishop must be had before the marriage is solemnized."

He said he offered frequently to leave the ministry to marry Miss Burnham, but her attitude "was always that I had a great opportunity in the ministry. She had ideas of my being a bishop."

I tried only to be a good parish minister."

BIG SUM ASKED TO PUT ARMY, NAVY IN SHAPE

Meanwhile, Country Strives For Peace In Direct Message to Hitler.

(By International News Service) LONDON—Great Britain today presented her bowing taxpayers with a $1,708,545,000 bill for defense of these islands in a swiftly rearing world.

With defense as the major item, the country probably faces the staggering sum of five billion dollars for the 1938-39 total government budget.

Naval estimates—which do not include the huge cost of new construction planned at once—today completed the stupendous defense figures presented to the House of Commons. The estimates are:

1938-9 Increase Over 1937-8. Navy: $618,555,000 $ 92,210,000 Air: 557,510,000 145,010,000 Army: 532,500,000 111,630,000 Total $1,708,545,000 $349,850,000

Navy To Honor. Like the other services, the navy will borrow huge sums from the defense loan—in the navy's case $150,000,000 for 1938-9.

But immense supplementary estimates will be required for new ship construction. A white paper issued Wednesday said that during the fiscal year beginning April 1, 60 new warships will be commissioned, representing more than 130,000 tons.

Two battleships, one aircraft carrier, four large and three small cruisers, three submarines, and three mine layers are to be laid down this coming year. The white paper said expenditures will be even greater in 1939, which is expected to be the peak year of the rearmament program. The total forecast is $1,758,750,000.

While aiming for peace, Britain strove for peace as Ambassador Sir Neville Henderson brought the direct message to Adolf Hitler in Berlin that Britain looked to Germany to cooperate in pacification of Europe. Speaking for Prime Minister Chamberlain, Sir Neville urged Hitler to consider an all-around settlement, including the questions of colonies, German minorities in Czechoslovakia, and Austro-German relations.

The body will be taken to the residence from the Geger funeral home this evening. Funeral services will be held at 9.30 a. m. Monday at St. Peter's Catholic church with Rev. R. C. Goebel officiating. Burial will be in the Mansfield Catholic cemetery.

The Great Game of Politics

—By FRANK R. KENT

IT MAY BE, as Mr. Roosevelt said at his press conference, that he has not read the statements of his friend, B. M. Baruch, made before the special senate committee; or it may be that that was just his way of avoiding an uncomfortable question he did not want to answer. Nevertheless, not since his administration began have the plain facts about our economic situation been presented more succinctly, nor the fundamental flaws in the New Deal philosophy revealed more clearly. If he has not read them, he should.

WHETHER or not the points so temperately made by Baruch affect the president, there is a general agreement that they have had a considerable effect on congress—and in more than one direction. First, the Baruch views have strengthened the feeling in congress against any further harassment of business, either through independent congressional enactment or by following White House initiative. The chances of further experimental legislation in the name of either emergency or reform have been diminished.

SECOND, Baruch, it is agreed, has enhanced the prospects of sane tax revision at this session. He has made it more certain that both capital-gain and undistributed-surplus taxes will be greatly modified. There is no doubt that he succeeded in clarifying the tax situation for the men who in the last analysis will have most to do with molding the tax bill. Third—and this, perhaps, in the long run, may be the most beneficial result of all—Baruch, without mentioning names and in a way to avoid offense, made what in effect was a really devastating indictment of the entire radical group of Roosevelt intimates who have been urging him toward price fixing, trust busting, pump priming and general hostility to the American system.

THE INDICTMENT was the more effective because it had none of the outward appearances of an indictment. It was made without a trace of denunciation and in a tone so tolerant that it was impossible to take offense. Yet the clarity with which he pointed out the fallacy of their reasoning and the harm done by their inflammatory utterances has probably done more to lessen the influence of this element, whose unbalanced belligerence toward business has had so much to do with the White House course, than any other single thing. If Baruch had done nothing else, this would have been a public service.

Hollywood Speaks—

—By ROBBIN COONS

HOLLYWOOD—Add to the fast-vanishing tribes of Hollywood the old sailing salts who can tell you what a dead-eye is, or a swifter, or a cathead.

"There's just about a dozen men left," mused Chris Christensen, "who know about an old-time riggin'."

Old-time rigging has been the movie livelihood of Captain Christensen, "who knows about an old-time riggin'." During these 15-offing years, the wind-jammers and schooners used in pictures—built then on our own shores, or remodeled practical craft used in sea-going scenes.

Sailors conversant with royal halyards and gallant halyards are becoming so rare that Chris Christensen, himself 25 years at sea, has been placed under exclusive contract to 20th Century, where it's his worry to round up enough veterans of the seven seas to whip together in quick time a wind-jammer for "Slave Ship" or the current "Kidnaped."

"We can do it with regular studio carpenters," he said, "but it takes longer. Because I've got to explain what I mean when I use the jargon. We put up that ship for 'Kidnaped' in 10 days, with help of some veterans. But they're scarce. Lot of 'em get back to sea, slack times in pictures, then I get a call and have to provide around down the harbor, hunting new ones."

Modern "old-time ships" are equipped with hydraulic jacks. They can pitch and roll and shiver on a sound stage—under a heap of levers. Makes sea films a heap simpler. But none of Christensen's movie boats, even the sound stage variety, is a shoddy make-shift. The camera can look in any direction on them and not find fault. Once, long time ago, Captain Christ thought he'd save some money by "fixing up" only those parts the director would shoot. That was on "The Divine Lady," Frank Lloyd directing. Came a day when Lloyd changed his mind about an angle. Christ and crew did some scampering to "cover up" —he doubts that Lloyd suspected

Sneaks Out To Go With Boy Friend

By VIRGINIA LEE
HOW DESPERATELY in earnest in their love affairs are some of our adolescents.

"If it weren't for HIM I wouldn't be living now, and if it weren't for ME he would not be far away," writes a 15-year-old girl.

This girl, B. R., is not allowed to have boy friends. She could get her mother's consent, but not her dad's, so she sneaks out to go with this boy with whom she is so much in love. That is what seems so stupid and short-sighted in parents. They think that if they forbid their youngsters to have anything to do with members of the opposite sex they are keeping them safe. Nothing is less true. No parent who has the ordinary duties of life to perform can check on the movements of a lively adolescent all the time. So one of two things happens. If the youngster has not been trained to absolute obedience, or is inclined to rebel, he or she steps out on the sly—which I am sure any parent will agree is much more harmful in every way than if they had the parental consent and went openly with those of whom their parents approved.

If this doesn't happen, the young person minds Pa and Ma and too often is left out of the fun of other young folk of her age and develops an inferiority complex. It is usually later to make friends or to adjust herself, and is rebellious of her lot and thoroughly unhappy. Worse still, the unhappiness may influence her whole life.

How much better it is, when children come to the age when Mother Nature prods them into being interested in each other, to permit them to go out occasionally, have dates with limitations on the number and the lateness of the hours, and only with parental approval.

The mother and father who welcome their children's young friends to the home, get to know them and take it for granted there is nothing evil in their intentions, not only are wise and retain their youngsters' confidence, but they get a lot of fun out of and companionship with the group.

"My girl friend wouldn't even look at a fellow and my mother wishes I was more like her," writes B. R. "My boy friend is always coaxing me to ask my father if I can go some place with him, but since I have been caught out, my father doesn't trust me nor believe anything I say."

"When my boy friend and I go out we always have another couple with us or one of my girl friends. We very seldom go by ourselves. Therefore, we don't do anything we shouldn't nor go any place we shouldn't."

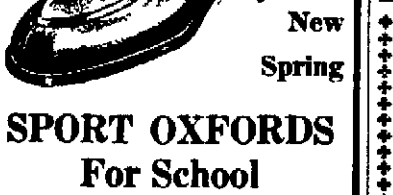

She has tried to break off with the boy, she says, but both were miserable, and a week of separation was all either could stand.

I wish your father could read this article, B. R., and I wish I could talk to him. If he doesn't and as I can't, I think the boy friend should talk to him, man to man, and try to persuade him that he is a decent boy who can be trusted and that you should be allowed to have him come to your home and take you out occasionally.

BEE's boy friend takes their friendship very seriously and wants her to go with him. B. R., however, doesn't like him well enough to do this, although she admires him immensely. However, as he likes her so well, she hasn't gone out with any other boy since she told him she would not go with him alone, for fear of hurting his feelings. Do I think she shouldn't go out with other boys?

Well, if you are not going steady with him you have a right to accept other boy's invitations, B. R. You are going steady with him now, you know, as you refuse other invitations. If you really don't want to go steady it would really be kinder to show him you don't care enough by going out with other boys, wouldn't it? As you now are doing he will keep hoping that you like him as he likes you.

To clarify last that has become rancid, melt it and slice into it a raw potato. Remove the potato in a few minutes, add a pinch of baking soda, then strain the liquid through a piece of cheese-cloth.

WHAT GOOD ARE THEY?

THERE is no use in holding a few little trumps against the declarer unless you employ them for some purpose helpful to your side. It may be that their only value in a particular deal is to capture the lead with one by ruffing a trick your partner can take. By so acting, you may be able to make the killing thrust through a tenace or guarded honor in the declarer's holding.

Meat Loaf Scalloped Potatoes Carrots Beet and Cabbage Salad Old English Date Pie Coffee

This meat loaf recipe is the standard. It may be varied in a number of ways.

Today's Recipes.
STANDARD MEAT LOAF. — One and one-half pounds ground beef, one-half pound ground pork, one small onion, grated; one cup fine dry bread or cracker crumbs, two teaspoons salt, one-eighth teaspoon pepper, two eggs, slightly beaten; one cup milk. Have beef from neck, shank or chuck and pork from the shoulder, ground together. Season with grated onion, salt and pepper. Add bread crumbs and mix well. Moisten with slightly beaten egg and milk. Pack into a greased loaf pan and bake at a moderate temperature (350 degrees F.) until done, about one and a half hours.

OLD ENGLISH DATE PIE. — Plain pastry, one-half package pasteurized dates, three-fourths cup sugar, one-half teaspoon cinnamon, one-eighth teaspoon nutmeg, one-eighth teaspoon cloves, one-half teaspoon salt, one tablespoon fine bread crumbs, two eggs, one cup evaporated milk, one-half cup shredded cocoanut. Line a nine-inch pie plate with pastry which has been rolled to a thickness of one-eighth inch. Sprinkle sliced pasteurized dates over the surface of the pastry. Mix sugar, spices, salt and bread crumbs; beat eggs; beat in sugar mixture gradually, then the milk. Pour this custard into the pastry-lined plate. Sprinkle cocoanut over the surface. Place in hot oven (425 degrees F.) for ten minutes; reduce temperature to very moderate heat (325 degrees F.) and continue to bake for 30 to 35 minutes or until the custard will not adhere to a silver knife inserted in the center. This makes one pie.

Tuberous begonias, coral-bells, violets, basketflower, forget-me-nots will bloom in partial or heavy shade. If garden is hot and dry plant petunias and cacti in it.

A lump of starch dissolved in the water with which windows are to be washed will make the glass shine.

Pine Vapor Beautifier Newest Thing

By GLADYS GLAD
(America's Most Famous Beauty)
In the Hollywood picture studios, it is common knowledge that in the making of motion pictures, the camera magnifies everything. According to makeup experts there, that's the chief reason why the cinema stars have to be so careful of their complexions. The camera magnifies any skin flaw so greatly that every lass who wishes to achieve motion-picture stardom must possess a skin that is perfect. Thus, many of our Hollywood pretties resort to weekly facials, in order to keep their skin smooth and fine-textured.

To face the season with a fresh, youthful, clean and clear complexion, examine your skin, your pores and your color. The skin, at this time of the year, is apt to be somewhat sallow and lacking in fineness of texture, and a weekly facial, if properly administered, is ideal for correcting any such ills. There are, of course, a good number of different types of facials now on the market. But the latest one I've learned about is a pine vapor facial. It seems ideal as a skin reconditioner and beautifier.

Induces Perspiration.

This facial is of Swiss origin—as is also the pine extract used in it, and the process is said to take no longer than 15 minutes. You simply add a spoonful of the pine needle oil to a bowl of hot water, and hold your head and face over the steam. You should not, naturally, hold your face close enough so that the steam can scald you. But you may throw a heavy towel over your head and around the bowl in-tent fashion to keep the steam centered close to your face.

This treatment produces a flow of perspiration so that the skin and pores are thoroughly cleansed. And while your pores are being cleansed, you are breathing in the refreshing odor of pine. This stimulates every cell, giving you quicker pore action, glowing vitality, and restores tautness to the skin. It's a treatment that may be used on both oily and dry skins.

After 15 minutes—or when the facial vapor has cooled, wash the face with a pure, bland soap and tepid water, to remove all dirt, grease and grime from the surface of the skin. Rinse your face with cool water, next, and as the final step, apply a good skin balm, a rich emulsion of nourishing ingredients.

Another good way to utilize pine extract is in the bath. The pine needle bath is one of the most soothing, stimulating and refreshing baths that any woman can have. It has a tonic effect upon the nerves and the entire body. It promotes improved blood circulation. It relaxes and freshens the body. And at the same time, it leaves the skin soft, smooth and delightfully perfumed.

Pine needle extract now comes in powder, cake and liquid form. It is once quite difficult to procure this extract, for people didn't realize its value, and there was no great demand for it. Today, however, practically all well-stocked drug stores and cosmetic shops carry it. And they usually keep all three forms of it in stock.

HOROSCOPE

For Saturday, March 5.

A difficult day of many peculiar portents is presaged from the dominant lunar influences. There may be a pronounced tendency to rush headlong into important situations with overzealous and aggressive methods. This may incite enmity, jealousy and the barbed tongue of gossip.

If This Is Your Birthday. Those whose birthday it is may find themselves in a year in which much may depend on their own capacity for wisdom, restraint and general self-control, as impetuosity, strife, passion and aggressiveness may incite enmity, jealousy and scandal. Be calm and steady in all endeavors.

A child born on this day may be bold, brave, impulsive, turbulent and reckless, having a jealous nature which may keep it in "hot water" and in line for much enmity and treachery by way of reprisal.

Wash the burners on your gas stove frequently with soap suds and water. Changed burners dull the flame and lessen the heat obtained from gas.

Paint piazza chairs now so that they may be thoroughly dried when you wish to use them.

To tighten springs in curtain rollers, hold the rollers firmly and with pinchers tighten the end springs.

Continuation of "Married Comrades"

Marriage Meddlers

By ADELE GARRISON

I stared at Mary in stupefaction as she made her excited announcement that she had remembered the thing which had eluded her—that Philip Veritzen owned the Lansfield.

"Are you sure, Mary?" I asked. "I can't believe it somehow."

"I wish I were as sure of heaven," Mary retorted with conviction in her tones. "But, thanks be to Allah, my respected father-in-law doesn't dream that I know of his ownership. It was just one of those fragments of conversation that I overheard by chance one time when I was in New York City. Another fragment, months later, gave me the name of the Lansfield. I wasn't particularly interested, and it wasn't until just now that I put one and one together, and got my 'deduction.' I think Katie would be proud of me. I really do."

"We all are," I told her with emphasis. "and this is especially valuable knowledge you have given us. We now know exactly where we stand."

"Just where?" Mary asked with a sober face.

"We know," I said slowly, "that instead of being free agents in a hotel, we are just as much under Philip Veritzen's eyes and watchfulness as we would be if we were living in his home."

Mary's eyebrows knitted into a frown.

Every One a Spy.

"Pleasant thought that," she said. "I know my respected father-in-law. If he does a thing, he does it up brown. Every employee that waits upon us, from the manager down to the least important bellboy, is an agent provocateur, set to watch all our comings and goings. But why, Mary, should I be so sure of that?"

"The nurse caught my cue instantly, and returned it deftly."

"I certainly do," she said, "and I am inclined to think I was letting my own imagination work overtime when I thought I caught Mr. Milner listening. He was just outside the door, it is true, but after all, his fountain pen was on the table, and he might have been coming back in search of it, just as he said."

"I am inclined to agree with you," I said, and Mary looked at us with puzzled eyes.

"I wish I knew what you two really did think," she said. "Of course, you wouldn't tell me, because you think I ought to be 'sheltered from all evil.' But I know that father-in-law of mine, and if he set up to something fishy, I'll eat my best chapeau with French dressing."

Beneath the laughter with which I answered her quip I registered a vow that I would "shelter her from the evil." But aloud I only said:

"A truce to Philip Veritzen and all his works. We must hurry or we will be here before we get our belongings aired."

Two Readers Seek Advice On Weddings

By EMILY POST

Dear Mrs. Post: Last fall invitations to our wedding were mailed, but owing to illness, the wedding had to be postponed. Now we are ready again to go ahead with our arrangements and would like to know if it will be necessary to send out engraved invitations. If not, how do we let every one know except by writing notes. Or isn't it necessary to invite all the people on the former list who received invitations before? We really would like to have a smaller wedding and not ask so many people, but mother believes that it would be discourteous to leave out some of those who were asked before. If we may cut the list, must we send out announcements?

Answer: If you have a really small wedding and ask people verbally or by notes written personally, the many who received invitations before can not possibly feel hurt if they are left out this time. In other words, the first invitations do not obligate you to repeat them. On the contrary, they show that had your wedding list been a little longer their names would have been included. Under the circumstances, I do not think it necessary that you send out announcements.

Dear Mrs. Post: There is a little confusion about whose name should appear on my wedding announcements. I have no parents and am living with my married sister. Her name is of course different from mine. For this reason, I think it would be better for the only brother in the family, who is also married, to announce my marriage. Do you agree, and if so, should my brother's wife be included on the announcement too?

Answer: This answer depends somewhat upon your individual situation. If your sister with whom you live is much nearer to you than your brother, and if, let us say, she is the oldest in the family, then the announcement would very properly go out in her name and that of her husband. For example: "Mr. and Mrs. Henry Jones announce the marriage of their sister, Mildred Mary Brown, etc." That is quite all right. On the other hand, if your brother is the head of the family and you are just as devoted to him as you are to your sister, then it would be most proper that he and his wife announce your marriage, worded: "Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Brown announce the marriage of their sister, Mildred Mary, etc." In this case, your name being the same as his, the last name "Brown" would be omitted.

Dear Mrs. Post: My husband is a doctor and after he became one he dropped the junior after his name and became Dr. John A. Smith. This title distinguishes him from his father, who is Mr. John A. Smith. We are young and have been married only a short time and now I would like to have visiting cards made for myself alone. But if I have cards engraved Mrs. John A. Smith, there will likely be times when this may prove confusing to people who know both his mother and me. What do you suggest?

Answer: I answered a question similar to this not long ago. Junior at the end of a man's name has nothing to do with his title. Your husband's name is John A. Smith, Jr., for so long as his father lives. The fact that junior follows his name does not mean that his father also is a doctor. Properly, your cards should read "Mrs. John A. Smith, Jr." A double card would be "Dr. and Mrs. John A. Smith, Jr." The card of your mother-in-law is "Mrs. John A. Smith."

My Neighbor Says:

Earthworms are beneficial to the soil in which they live and no effort should be made to remove them. If considered troublesome, lime water will bring them to the surface.

Souffle will not fall so quickly after it has been removed from the oven if 1/2 level teaspoon of baking powder is added to every 4 eggs when mixing the souffle.

If you wish to save time dry scallops with a cloth, roll in meal and let them set in the refrigerator for a few hours before cooking.

Among the crisp green vegetables this week are endive and asparagus, Florida dandelions, Chinese celery, and several varieties of cabbage. Broccoli, sprouts, kale, mustard greens and spinach, head the list of green vegetables for cooking. Egg plant, cauliflower, oyster plant, and squash are still popular and available at most markets.

The Fellowship of Prayer

Daily Lenten Devotion

By DR. WILLARD L. SPERRY

Friday, March 4. "We all, with open face beholding as in a glass the glory of the Lord, are changed into the same image." Read II Corinthians 3:12-18.

A Christian should be prepared for constant changes in his life, as his understanding of Christianity grows.

How are they to be effected? We can attempt to change ourselves. This is an honest and worthy endeavor. But few of us are successful in the venture. It is like trying to add inches to one's height. Jesus himself said this could not be done by conscious thought or choice. Such a process seems to involve too much thinking about oneself.

Saint Paul uses the word "change," but in the passive rather than the active form. We "are changed,"—probably do not realize that change is going on until it is accomplished. The steady gaze of an "open face" alters us into the likeness of that at which we look. We do not become Christlike, then, by consciously thinking about ourselves and trying to alter ourselves, but rather by coming into the presence of Christ and letting our minds rest on him. If we were to think more about him than is our habit, and less about ourselves, we should be nearer the secret of the needed changes in our lives.

Prayer: Almighty God, who

WINTER WHEAT YIELD LOWER

1938 Production Estimated at 26,000,000 Bushels Less Than Last Year.

CHICAGO — W.P. — Winter wheat production for 1938 was estimated today between 650,000,000 and 668,000,000 bushels by two of Chicago's five private crop experts.

H. C. Donovan of Thomson & McKinnon placed the probable 1938 winter yield at 650,000,000 bushels and N. C. Murray of Clement, Curtis & 668,000,000 bushels.

The average on the two estimates was 659,000,000 bushels, 26,000,000 bushels less than the actual 1937 yield but 30,000,000 bushels higher than the U. S. department of agriculture estimate of Dec. 1.

Two years ago winter wheat production in the U. S. amounted to 519,000,000 bushels and three years ago the winter crop was 465,000,000. The five year average, 1928-32, was 623,000,000 bushels.

Most common us to be born again and forever reborn into the world of the spirit, grant that, through the indwelling of Christ in both our hearts and our minds we may be changed into his likeness. Amen.

WORRIED WINNIE SHE DREADED HAVING FRIENDS SEE HER WINTER-GRAY WASH!

HEAVENS! THINGS ARE SO DIRTY GRAY AGAIN I COULD DIE! JUST WHEN I NEEDED THEM SHINY WHITE FOR THE CLUB MEETING!

WE'RE A DISGRACE!

SUNSHINE! WE NEED SUNSHINE!

THIS "SOAKING SOAP" IS TERRIBLY DISAPPOINTING WHEN CLOTHES DON'T GET SHINY! I GUESS I'LL HAVE TO SCRUB AND BOIL! I WANT THINGS WHITE!

WHY DON'T YOU USE THAT NEW NO-SCRUB SOAP, OXYDOL? IT SOAKS WASHES SO SPARKLING WHITE IN 15 MINUTES YOU'LL BE AMAZED.

MERCY, NO! OXYDOL'S A NEW DISCOVERY. IT GETS CLOTHES 4 TO 5 SHADES WHITER THAN THAT SOAP. I'LL SHOW YOU . . .

WHAT WONDERFUL SUDS—FROM SUCH A LITTLE SOAP!

YOU'LL FIND OXYDOL MAKES 3 TIMES AS MUCH RICH, LIVELY SUDS AS YOUR OLD SOAP!

A FEW MINUTES LATER

WAIT TILL YOU SEE HOW FRESH AND BRIGHT OXYDOL WASHES YOUR COLORED THINGS. IT'S SAFE AS CAN BE FOR COLORS AND HANDS.

HOW MARVELOUSLY WHITE! WHY THEY LOOK LIKE THEY'VE HUNG IN THE SUN FOR HOURS!

AND JUST HOW FRESH AND BRIGHT OXYDOL WASHES YOUR COLORED THINGS. IT'S SAFE AS CAN BE FOR COLORS AND HANDS.

Ethel is right! Tests showed that, cup for cup, Oxydol washed white clothes 4 to 5 shades whiter than other well-known granulated soaps.

NOW! END WINTER-GRAY WASHES

This New, SAFE "No-Scrub" Way

NOW—watch that dull, dingy look vanish from your winter washes like magic. See them come snowy white—as if they had hung in the summer sun for hours!

Too good to be true? Not at all! For the utterly new soap discovery, OXYDOL, soaks clothes so white in 15 minutes you'll be amazed!

It is the result of a patented process that makes soap far faster acting. And a new formula that makes mild, gentle soap 2 to 3 times whiter washing—yet keeps it safe.

Tests against popular laundry soaps (including other granulated soaps), showed, cup for cup, Oxydol got clothes 4 to 5 shades whiter—as proved by standard Tintometer tests.

In fact, Oxydol soaked clothes as white in 15 minutes as equal quantities of other well-known granulated soaps did in a full 36 of an hour.

Yet Oxydol is so safe for all washable colors that sheer cotton prints washed 100 consecutive times in Oxydol showed no perceptible signs of fading. Hands stay soft, white!

Oxydol is economical, too. Tests show that, cup for cup, it gives 28% to 60% more suds than popular package soaps, goes 1/2 to 1 1/2 again as far as even the latest soap chips.

Try Oxydol today. See how swiftly and safely it banishes "winter-gray" for good. You'll never go back to old-style soaps again. Procter & Gamble.

CUNNING-
HAM RUNS
MILE
IN 4:04
NEW RECORD.

By DAVIS J. WALSH
(198 Sports Editor)

NEW YORK—Glenn Cunningham was back in what we arrogantly call the big town today after the fastest mile ever traveled by the foot of man, 4:04 4-10, at Hanover, N. H., last night to find that he had won the hearts of everyone with the performance—and to face a strong possibility that he had lost his chance to get it on the books.

The writer does not wish to be a reporter's goose at a modern day's feast but, in mentioning books, I mean any book. I also mean that, in beating every mark known to man last night, it may be and probably is true that Cunningham didn't even officially beat his own indoor mark of 4:08 4-10.

As for the listed and now accepted world's outdoor record, 4:06 4-10, by Sydney Wooderson, the Englishman, nothing officially did or even could happen to that on an indoor track.

There is no such thing as a world indoor record in the lexicon of international recognition.

I make that statement without qualification. And Secretary-Treasurer Daniel J. Ferris, of the A. A. U., makes this:

"If Cunningham's Hanover race was a paced effort, as clearly it seems to have been, then it will never be printed page except under meritorious performance, which in itself will be an all-time, all-out, understatement. Therefore, all Cunningham seems due to get out of last night is the ride back and forth from New Hampshire.

"It seems a shame," was Ferris' comment this morning. "The boy can break the record, running by himself. They could have placed both the other starters on scratch and let him run the race as he pleased or they could have made a regular handicap race out of it, with legitimate handicaps, according to the form of the three starters.

"But no record by means of pacing is recognized anywhere in the world and I told Harry Hillman (Dartmouth track coach) 'this week end, I was even going to phone him or wire him yesterday to make sure that he understood me. I wish now that I did.'"

Originally it had been intended to select four Dartmouth runners, start them on the same mark with Cunningham and let nature have its head. Then a shift was made, whereby two of them were to be given nominal handicaps and others placed out on the 255-yard mark. Finally, this seems to have been done.

Stewart Whitman was placed out at five yards and ran in front of Cunningham through the first half mile in 2:02 5-10. Harold Woson, it appears, was placed at 600 yards, picked up the race and went on through the last half mile which Cunningham did in the blinding time of 2:01 9-10. His final quarter was 60 seconds flat, with the Dartmouth student body coming down out of the stands in a spontaneous demonstration at the end.

No matter what the conditions, no mile within two seconds of that had ever before been run. Admitting, though, that the conditions were ideal—a 6 1/2 lap track, with long straightaways, highly banked turns and plenty of bounce in the pine boards—the only condition that could possibly disqualify the performance as that seemingly violating the rules having to do with the accepting of records.

BAER FACES REAL TEST

Meets Barlund in New York Tonight.

NEW YORK—(AP)—This is the night when a Buddy Baer, the laughing boy, grows up. He fights Gunnar Barlund at the garden in a 10-round bout that should tell whether Buddy is destined to become a top-flight heavyweight in his own right or continue merely to be Max's favorite brother.

At 23, Buddy is believed to be ready for the big push. He stands over six feet, six inches and is bigger in every way than his illustrious brother.

It's been noticeable over at Lakewood, N. J., where they've both been training, that Buddy and Max don't work out together.

BROADCAST FIGHT
The Buddy Baer-Gunnar Barlund fight in New York tonight will be broadcast over the WJZ-NBC hookup at 10 o'clock.

as they once did. Intimates of the camp think Buddy, if he chose, could give the ex-champ a fine lathering.

First Real Test.
Barlund is the first established, banafide heavyweight contender that Buddy has been tossed in with.

Though Baer is a slight favorite in the betting, there also is plenty of opinion that Barlund will prove too experienced for him.

Cuemen Need One Victory to Annex Crown.

Rex Billiards assured themselves of at least a share of the Senior White league championship last night by defeating the Blue Goose combine, 44 to 27, in the feature attraction at the Friendly House.

The league leaders now have only to dispose of Benny's Hi Notes next week in the final game to win the title outright. The Hi Notes remained in the running a ger independent 31 to 1.

Come From Behind.
The Cuemen, trailing 6 to 4, going into the second frame, suddenly got away and at the half were leading 16 to 7. Boyd set the individual pace with 10 points.

In the other game, the Ziegler Independents defeated the Mansfield Athletic Supply club, 24 to 19. It was the Supplies' 13th defeat of the season.

Butler Loses

Bows to Sulphur Springs, 26 to 9, in Opening Game at Cary.

ONTARIO high, Richland county league champions, today was the only county club remaining in the district Class B tournament at Cary. The Warriors will go into action tonight against the dangerous Tiffin Calvert club, one of the top teams in the district.

Hold Foul Shooting Contest at F. H.

A foul shooting contest will be conducted at the Friendly House Tuesday night. It was announced by Mike Wentz today. The contest will be open to all boys 16 years and over.

The affair, sponsored by the Boys' Club of America, is scheduled to get under way at 8:30 o'clock. All Friendly House members are eligible to compete. A prize will be awarded the boy with the most conversions out of 25 tries.

of the powers in the Little Big Six league this year.

While the Warriors were preparing for tonight's tilt at 8:30, the Bulldogs of Butler high, Richland county tournament champions, were recovered from the lacing they received at the hands of Sulphur Springs, Crawford county champs, last night in an opening round game at Cary. The score was 26 to 9.

Butler, which marched through the county tourney in splendid fashion, trailed from the opening gun last night.

Limited to Two Fouls.
Sulphur Springs limited the Richland county entry to two free throws in the opening half to take an overwhelming, 12 to 2, lead. King converted the charity tosses for Butler in the opening period.

Balbaugh Wins City Table Tennis Title

By CHARLES MARTIN

A SHORT, dark-haired, bespectacled figure held the top position in Mansfield's ping pong circles today.

The new head man, Frank Balbaugh, well-known city indoor ball star, unlimbered his trusty right arm last night at the Y. M. C. A. to win the city-wide table tennis tournament championship.

Balbaugh, who won the titles in 1935-36, but who retired from competition last year, defeated Don Cram, 21-23, 21-13, and 21-19, in the best two-out-of-three game finals.

Win. Doubles Title.
Drs. D. A. Weir and C. R. Hien came through with the doubles championship, defeating Houston and Davis, 15-21, 21-15, 21-16 and 21-15, in the finals. Only eight teams were entered in the doubles division.

The doubles champions eliminated the pre-tourney favorites, Rhuland Isaly and White, in second round games.

The new champion marched through the opening rounds without encountering much trouble, but when he reached the semi-finals he broke loose with a brilliant performance to come through undefeated.

Wins Opening Games With Ease.
Balbaugh defeated Frank Gaddfield, only one-quarter performer in the tourney, 21-9, 21-12, in the opening round game, and then disposed of John Foltz, 21-5, 21-5, and in the next match downed Robert Keefe, 21-18, 21-16, to reach the semi-finals.

Dr. Weir, finalist last year, furnished the opposition for Balbaugh in the semi-finals and the two staged a thrilling affair before a small but enthusiastic crowd.

The title holder won the match, 21-10, 21-21, 21-14, and 21-19.

It looked for a while as if Balbaugh would sweep through the finals without a defeat as he plied up an 18-9 lead in the early minutes of the opening game.

Cram staged a spectacular comeback to draw first blood, 23-21, but when the chips were down the champion really showed his stuff.

Coming back with a rush, Balbaugh took his first game, 21-13, and then displayed a whirlwind finish to take the deciding match.
